Patterson Field Fencing Is Postponed

School Board Members To Ask Standard Oil And Pennsy Parleys

James R. Daugherty, Youngstown Engineer, Who Supervised Building of $34,000 Stadium at Struthers, Explains His Plan of Installing Drainage System in West End Acreage.

SPECIALIST CLAIMS FURTHER FILL UNNECESSARY TO PROVIDE A-1 PLACE

Proposal Calls for Football Gridiron on West Side of Field, Cinder Running Path, Practice Field, Tennis Courts, and Playground and Erection of Concrete Grandstand.

Pending conferences with representatives of the Standard Oil company and the Pennsylvania Railroad company regarding certain real estate concessions, no contracts for the improvement of the Patterson Athletic field in West Eighth street were awarded by the board of education at its meeting last night.

James R. Daugherty, Youngstown engineer, who has been specializing in athletic field construction and who supervised the building of the $34,000 field at Struthers, explained his plan to the board members.

The engineer, who submitted blue prints, declared that no further filling would be necessary to convert the plat into a first class field. His plans calls for the construction of a complete drainage system, hundreds of lateral sewers laid beneath the surface draining into a truck line which would run north and south.

Engineer Outlines Plan.

The main truck sewer, Daugherty said, would follow under the Cleveland & Pittsburgh tracks from the center of the field, draining into the Ohio river. Permission to build this sewer under the railroad tracks must be obtained.

Daugherty's survey, it was reported, showed approximately 77 feet at the south-west corner of the lot. On this land has been constructed two switches and the siding to the Standard Oil company's bulk station, the engineer said.

If his plan is followed the football field will be shifted to the west side of the grounds, the field running north and south. On the extreme west side, he proposes the erection of a concrete grandstand to take the place of the old frame stands which will be razed.

Four Years? Too Short.

Ford Teaches Thinking.

Little Ticker Tape.

By ARTHUR BRISBANE

[The opinions expressed in this column are strictly those fo Mr. Brisbane and not necessarily in consonance with the policies of The Review-Tribune.]

RUSSIA startles the League at Geneva, proposing to wipe out warfare, junk all armies, navies and armaments absolutely in four years.

Revolution is enthusiastic. Russia believes that in a few years it can change as uneducated proletariat, transform 150 million uneducated, unthinking human beings into mental and moral equals of the world's best. Nice thought, but it can't be done. To change a man you must change the shape of his forehead, the kind and size of his brain and deepen its convolutions. That takes generations, sometimes thousand of them, not four years.

While introducing his new car to the world Henry Ford also introduces a new kind of school which he maintains near his famous Wayside Inn. He says the main object of the school is "TO TEACH THINKING."

That is the only education worth while, and the kind of education most generally neglected, especially in the big universities.

They teach NOT THINKING.

The value of what you eat depends on what you digest. The value of what you read depends on what you think. Ford's educational system mixes teaching the hands with teaching the mind. Our public schools should try that and look into the Ford method.

Wall Street tape, the little piece of white paper that runs through the ticker, was twenty minutes behind yesterday, could not keep up with the extraordinary speculation.

Stocks sailed up again, Steel, General Motors, etc. Three million shares were bought by somebody who evidently believes the time for that "necessary slump" has not yet come.

James Speyer's statement that prosperity is our normal condition, just as health is the normal condition of a healthy man, as long as he abstains from foolishness, is the best description of this fortunate land.

Sudbury, in good Massachusetts, and its Town Council mean it when they demand President Coolidge for a second elective term. In fact, they go farther, voting 6 to 1 to double his salary and make him President for life. Irving A. Priest, Boston banker, head of Sunbury's town committee, says the real Uncle Sam has come to life in President Coolidge, who is "thin, sharp featured, grim, deliberate, Junkerman Fined $10.

Alleged by the police to have attacked his wife, throwing her from their home into the street, William Junkerman was fined $10 and costs by Municipal Judge J. C. Hanley today.

Patrolman James Haley, who arrested Junkerman, charged him with assault, but this charge was amended to intoxication when the prisoner faced Judge Hanley.

FAKE GAS CALL, ROB STATION

Thieves Get $50 at B. & W. Shop, Dresden Ave.

During the absence of the night attendant, who was answering a "fake" call for gasoline, the B. & W. tire repair shop, Dresden avenue, near the Horn switch, was robbed of between $50 and $60 at 3 o'clock this morning.

Carl Davis, in charge, received a telephone call at 2:30 o'clock from a motorist who stated that his machine had run out of gas near Thompson Park. Davis locked the front door of the station and went to the park, but no trace of the stalled car could be found.

When he returned about half an hour later he found the rear door standing open and one of the windows raised. The cash register was empty.

The rear door, which is said to have been locked about 9 o'clock last night, is believed to have been unlocked by a suspect who was loitering about the place earlier in the evening.

30-FOOT CREST IN OHIO RIVER RAMPAGE LOOMS HERE TONIGHT

Stage of 28.8 Feet Reported at Noon.

STILL RISING

Thirty-three Feet Will Inundate Jethro.

A 30-foot crest in the Ohio river rampage, which has been threatening a flood stage, was expected to be reached at Dam No. 8 late tonight.

At noon today the gauge registered 28.8 feet, while the water was rising at the rate of one-tenth of a foot an hour. Crest at Pittsburgh was expected this afternoon, according to advices received here.

Approximately 33 feet of water will put the river over its bank in Jethro and Smith's Ferry. The cold weather, which developed Wednesday night, served to prevent a flood stage, according to rivermen.

Fear Additional Damage.

ALBANY, N. Y., Dec. 2.—With rain predicted for today, additional damage and hardship was feared in western New York, where floods, cause by swollen streams made many families homeless, inundated farm lands and crippled transportation.

With freezing weather predicted by the weather bureau, no relief was in sight for residents made temporarily homeless.

Several counties in southwestern New York state were the first to suffer, and flood conditions are now reported throughout the 175 miles are from Syracuse to Jamestown as the rivers spread over the canisteo and Chadokin valleys.

One death had been reported today. Ephraim head was trapped in his burning house at Olean by flood wat-

ONE MAN DEAD IN COLD WAVE

Icy Hand of Winter Grips Middle West.

CHICAGO, Dec. 3.—The ice hand of winter gripped the middle west today as temperatures fell to the lowest level this season.

Cold and exposure claimed one death in Chicago when the body of Harry Gardner, 60, was found dead in an alleyway.

Frigid blasts accompanied brisk winds which swept in from western Canada and sent the thermometer to the 12-above-zero mark. Colder weather with snow was predicted for Illinois, Indiana, Iowa and parts of Wisconsin for tonight.

Sub zero weather descended upon the Minneapolis area.

The cold wave now extends from the Canadian border, west as far as the Rockies,, south into Texas and east to the Atlantic coast.

SECY. LOCAL NO. 124.

DIVORCEE SLAIN; CLUB MAN HELD

Social circles in Richmond, Va., have been stirred by the death of Mrs. Elsie Holt Snipes, 28-year-old divorcee and teacher of music, and the holding of John Wesley Faison, 31, manager and secretary of a fashionable country club, on a murder charge. Faison contends Mrs. Snipes shot herself while he was visiting her in her apartment. He rushed her to a hospital where she died shortly afterward without regaining consciousness. Faison and Mrs. Snipes are above, and, below, Mrs. Snipes' apartment, photographed just after the shooting.

Two Hurt In Ohio Trolley Car Crash

Motorman and Woman Passenger are Injured in Interurban Collision at Delaware.

DELAWARE, O., Dec. 2.—Two persons were injured early today when two interurban electric cars collided at Kingman hill, three and a half miles south of here.

The cars which collided were a northbound Columbus to Delaware and a south bound local car.

George Zigler, a motorman on the local and a passenger, Mrs. Jeanette Lincoln, of Dodgeville, Wisconsin, were injured, but not seriously.

The local car was running late, according to the report, because of high water encountered near Prospect. In some manner the motormen became confused over signals and failed to meet on a switch.

A number of passengers were thrown from their seats.

COLUMBUS, Dec. 2.—The state utilities commission sent two of its inspectors, T. H. Burke and J. T. Briggs, of Columbus, to Stratford today to investigate the head-on collision of two Columbus, Delaware & Marion Interurban passenger cars near Stratford.

RABBI SCHULMAN TO GIVE LECTURE

SLIP ON VOTE BLOCKS ACTION ON SALARIES OF THREE MEN

Mayor, Auditor and Bailiff May Get More Money.

MEET DEC. 15

Chair Rules Against 4 to 3 Poll on Ordinance.

Ordinances providing salary increases for the mayor, auditor and municipal court bailiff, introduced last night in council, were sidetracked for two weeks after a motion to place them on first reading, although carried by a vote of 4 to 3, was declared lost by President N. P. Kerr.

Proposed Pay Increases.

Solons George Hughes, William H. Kelly, Otto Kommel and L. M. Poole voted to consider the first ordinance, re-establishing the mayor's salary at $1,800. The motion was opposed by Charles Hayes, Thomas Farrall and Clyde Goodballet. President Kerr's "lost" ruling was not noticed until after the meeting adjourned when it was admitted an error had been made in announcing the tally.

Other proposals, while not read, call for increases from $1,680 to $1,980, or $25 per month in the salary of the auditor, while the pay of the court bailiff would be boosted from $100 to $150, or an increase of $50 per month.

In the event the municipal pay boost ordinance is not adopted before January 1, the city executive's salary, now $1,800, will be cut to $1,200. The economy ordinance passed several months ago, is to become effective at the opening of Mayor Ralph Benedum's second term.

Seeks Lease on City Property.

Hayes was the first speaker on the motion offered by Hughes. He stated that he was not prepared to vote on the ordinance, declaring he did not learn until shortly before the meeting opened that such a proposal had been prepared. Farrall expressed like sentiments. Goodballet declared he wanted more time to consider the matter. Poole then moved that consideration be postponed until the next meeting which was unanimously approved.

Attorney R. G. Thompson, representing Allen Pugh, cement block manufacturer, asked that a lease be granted Pugh on a plot of ground at the lower end of Ohio avenue. He urged that a lease be granted with the stipulation that if at any time the ground was needed for street purposes Pugh would vacate the premises. Motion was adopted instructing the ordinance committee to prepare the necessary legislation providing for a 25-year lease with a proviso that if the city needed the property six months' notice be given lessee.

Discuss Engineering Bill.

Lengthy discussion took place after Ttt'y Thompson called the attention of council to the fact that the Litten Motor Sales company had been sent a bill for more than $200 for engineering work in connection with the improvement of the run near their gas

CHECKS BOOST SANTA'S PURSE

Potters' Bank Mails Christmas Savings to Depositors.

Potters' National bank has mailed checks to approximately 1,000 depositors in Christmas savings fund, R. W. Patterson, cashier, announced today. The amount distributed was not made public.

The fund represents an increase of approximately 60 per cent over the 1926 report, Patterson said. Checks were mailed Wednesday and delivered yesterday.

The bank is now enrolling the 1928 club members. Payments are scattered over a period of 50 weeks, maturing on or about Dec. 1.

T. H. Fisher, vice-president of the First National bank, announced today that the Christmas savings account of that institution would be distributed December 10. The Union Savings & Loan company this week mailed out checks aggregating $63,000 to members of its Christmas club.

REMUS' FRIEND RELATES ALLEGED MISDOINGS OF SLAIN WOMAN AND FORMER U. S. DRY SLEUTH

BY JAMES L. KILGALLEN.

COURT HOUSE, CINCINNATI, Dec. 2.—"Manufactured lies," shouted John S. Berger, aggressive witness for George Remus, from the witness stand today when Prosecutor Charles P. Taft, on cross-examination, tried to impeach his testimony by inferring he tried to force the slain Imogene Remus to pay him $25,000 under a threat to tell her husband "what she was doing," if she did not "come through."

Berger had related the alleged misdoings of the slain Mrs. Remus and Franklin L. Dodge, former prohibition enforcement sleuth, in minute detail and without the slightest compunction.

He told Remus, he said, that Mrs. Remus informed him she was "madly in love" with Dodge. He told "George" as he calls Remus, that he saw them half disrobed in hotel rooms together and that Dodge and Mrs. Remus were the cause of all his troubles. They not only planned to deport him but hired gangsters to assassinate him, Berger said he informed Remus.

Defendant Predicts Acquittal.

"I could go to the jury now and win," Remus declared confidently today.

"I'll be acquitted. I'm sure of that. I've been watching this jury and I like the way they seem to react to the testimony.

"What splendid witnesses Remus has had.

"In the 21 years I have spent in courtrooms as a lawyer, I have never seen a better witness, or one who commanded more respect, who's intonation was so good, whose demeanor was so perfect as John T. Rogers, the St. Louis reporter who testified in my behalf on Wednesday. Wasn't he superb?

"I'm a pessimist in law cases. It always has been my policy to regard the case from the other side. But I am not a pessimist in this, my own case. If Remus loses and has to go to the electric chair, he will go with a smile, but Remus is not going to lose."

Remus was asked why he has been so passive in court. Except yesterday, when he resented being referred to by an assistant prosecutor as "Remus the rat," he has been strangely quiet for days. This demeanor is at variance with the theatrical Mr. Remus' natural inclinations.

Praises His Witnesses.

"Well," Remus replied, "I couldn't question these witnesses about my sanity. It would be much better for Elston (his co-counsel) to do that. However, no one can convince Remus that he is now crazy."

And Remus, who has not once expressed regret over shooting his wife, smiled criptically.

Remus said he thought John S. Berger was a fine defense witness, too. Berger testified late yesterday he saw Mrs. Remus and Franklin L. Dodge, ex-prohibition enforcement sleuth, in "almost nude attire" in a hotel room, that they had staged liquor parties in the Claypool hotel in Indianapolis, and that Mrs. Remus referred to Dodge as her "heavy lover." Berger said Mrs. Remus told him she and Dodge were going to have Remus killed by St. Louis gangsters, get his vast fortune, and tour the country.

Having Time

Are you one of those who never have time to do things? Some people are always behind and try to excuse themselves by saying they did not have time.

The ones who are always saying they have no time are usually the ones who are not doing very much. Busy people are those who have time. It is not lacking time that is the trouble with most folks; it is not knowing how to use it to make the most of it. Learn to have time for what you want to do, and what you need to do.

Universal Star Scores in "Wine" at American.

"Wine," the Universal picture starring Clara Bow, opened at the Strand theatre last night.

The picture reflects the serious consequences connected with the industry which makes it possible for the thirsty to drink from the cup that cheers.

It's a convincing smash to the new life of folly and a strong finish to a dramatic play. A happy finish is provided in the story, which is well handled.

The players, who do excellent work, are Clara Bow, Huntly Gordon, Myrtle Stedman, Forest Stanley, Walter Long and Robert Agnew.

A popular musical program is offered by both the organ and orchestra with interesting short subjects and comedy.

Next week the great mystery thriller "The Cat and the Canary," will be the attraction at the American.

Campaign For Health

With Mrs. Louis Steinfeld, chairlady of the health committee of the City Federation of Women's Clubs, at the helm, East Liverpool's annual crusade against the white plague will get under way Monday through the sale of Christmas seals.

The Ceramic City has been asked to sell 2,240, a per capita of 10, of the penny adhesives, proceeds of which are used in the campaign against tuberculosis which has claimed many victims in Columbiana county.

More than 50,000,000 stamps have been distributed to every corner of the state in the movement to raise funds for public health nursing, summer camps for children and general health education. Eighty per cent of the funds is retained for home work.

As Governor A. V. Donahey says, "The economic loss and human suffering occasioned by tuberculosis in Ohio each year is sufficient justification for all to do their part in combating this dreaded disease.

"The re-appearance of the penny Christmas seals in every city, village and hamlet serves to remind us of our obligation to continue the fight and affords an opportunity for all to help stamp out tuberculosis."

The movement deserves success.

Great Sport

The hunting season in New York state has now closed. The state conservation commission reports that 28 hunters were killed and 71 others injured during the 1927 season. That is the worst record for five years, with the exception of 1925, when 29 were killed and 86 injured.

Fourteen of this year's victims were shot by their own guns, accidentally; 12 were killed by members of their own hunting party; one was shot down by a stray bullet and one died of heart disease while firing at pheasants.

Of the injured, 28 shot themselves, 11 while hunting deer and 17 while hunting birds. Thirty were wounded by companions; nine were struck by stray bullets.

One of the killed was an expert guide. He was "mistaken for a deer."

"Practically all of these accidents," says the conservation commission's report, referring to those who were killed or injured by their own guns, "could have been avoided by a thorough knowledge of firearms and care in their use."

An observer, not thrilled by the sport of hunting as practised in this modern day, would add that all of the deaths and injuries could have been avoided by staying away from the woods. When the toll of human deaths and injuries for other states is added to that of New York and the useless slaughter of animals not needed for food or pelt are considered, the hunting season loses a good deal of its glamor.

For History Students

The class in history will please turn from the contemplation of school histories and their 100 per cent nationalism to history in general.

Will Durant, philosopher, is leading the class. The proper study of history, perhaps, requires philosophy. The subject happens to be India, with special attention paid to the great Hindu statesman, Asoka, who is one of H. G. Wells' world heroes. His enlightened and civilized reign occurred at the beginning of the third century, A. D. It was an oasis in a vast, barren chronicle of conquest.

"After Asoka," says Durant, "India passes out of the light: for a thousand years we know almost nothing of her vicissitudes. Doubtless warriors came, and replaced one another in that dull military parade which simpletons call history."

The matter is referred to here for the sake of that last clause: "That dull military parade which simpletons call history." Having mastered its meaning, real students may be ready to begin learning some real history. And happily we are now entering on an age that gives them material for study.

R'arin' To Go

This, everybody will agree, has been a big air year. Aviation has made more progress in 1927 than in any other year. But evidently this is only a beginning.

Glenn L. Martin, aircraft manufacturer, says the world will see a regular epidemic of long-distance and trans-oceanic flights in 1928.

"Next year's flights," he adds, "will receive more preparation than the ones made or attempted this year. The pilots are getting set now."

The manufacturers are getting set, too. Orders are piling in upon them, and they are enlarging their factories and preparing for quantity production and prosperity.

"Nothing can stop the manufacture of aircraft from becoming one of the great industries of the country," says Martin. Will it duplicate the amazing success of the automobile industry?

Vice President Dawes should send a large, under-slung pipe to the new sultan of Morocco, with his congratulations. Sultan Mulai has even less work and responsiblity than the vice president of the United States.

The surest thing about that dynastic crisis in Roumania is that it's of very little importance to the United States, and wouldn't be of any interest here at all if it hadn't been for the travel adventures of Queen Marie and the marital adventures of Prince Carol.

Preparing The More or Less Perfect Alibi— By Fontaine Fox

(© Fontaine Fox, 1927, The Bell Syndicate, Inc.)

NEW YORK, Dec. 2.—Thoughts while strolling: Shoes half-soled—$10. This is not my street. Those girls who try to look like Natacha Rambova. Johnny Dundee's cauliflowered ear. Porky gentlemen with wisp of Imperials and generously dashed with perfume. At home on either side of the Atlantic.

College boys with silly turned-up hats. Elsie De Wolfe. Catarrhal Englishmen smoking pipes. Whatever became of William Travers Jerome? The scarred owner of a murky cabaret with gloves and cane. Toughened troupers and their wives with white dogs.

A beautiful girl lifts a Lilliputian into a taxi. And they ride away. Those men who leave cars at corners. And look furtively about before darting into rather gaudy apartments. The dizzy new buildings that seem to wave like white plumes. Franklin Booth, the artist.

Clare Gould and his wife—the former Lorraine Manville. The subway blasting now a part of the city's basso profundo. Still it will be all over in a couple of years. Shoals of pedestrians with those who flit about in the gutters like minnows.

A musical play without a character impersonating Mayor Walker. A roaming band of fortune tellers. Damon Runyon's cap. Sea food windows—with dead staring fish. Little brass rail bars and their janty white capped chefs. Bindle stiffs and paste jeweled ladies.

Those hoarse newsies who seem in a perpetual frenzy of exultation. A blind man holds forth Bible tracts. And smiles. No bob-haired bandits lately. After-theatre rush to soda fountains. And two dramatic critics scurry down subway entrances like frightened rabbits. Sime Silverman and Jack Lait.

Sixth Avenue arcades and penny shows fill. And many of the patrons are in evening clothes. Buttermilk shops. A tired Salvationist sings of clouds and snow-white lambs. A woman tells a man to "go to hell." And so a turbulent street—lives, loves and laughs the days away.

A half dozen distinct theatrical hits have been made this season by ex-hoofers and ex-cabaret girls. One girl who knocked about night clubs in a spangled dress, singing in a cracked voice and displaying a property smile for several years is now an outstanding hit. She squeezes a sophisticated audience dry of tears nightly—and shortly after the curtain falls may be found in some night club enjoying herself as part of the audience.

It is admitted by sartorial experts the only change in evening dress for men this year is that buttons on white vests must be covered with the same material as the vest. That's being technical.

There are about 100 newspapers printed in foreign languages in New York. The other day I ran across a reporter for one that had no semblance to the Park Row type. He was past 70 with a gray beard, a long Prince Albert coat and used snuff. He has been at the same task for 26 years and after he writes his stories—mostly lectures dealing with his people—he sets them up in type. He is paid $24 a week and has reared a family of eight.

Paris is said to have more newspapers than any other city its size. A man going out for a business call, always stops at a sidewalk cafe table for a drink, buys a newspaper and tosses it away. He may buy a half dozen during a day.

Gas and electric meter readers endure more undeserved snubs than perhaps any other class of workers in New York. Many householders seem to accept their visit as a personal affront.

Still so many people are bilked, robbed and assassinated in this town that it is no wonder we are all suspicious. I am convinced that a strange gentleman who handed me what afterward proved to be a seed catalogue is up to some flim-flammery. What could I do with seeds?

HASKIN'S LETTER

By FREDERIC J. HASKIN

Getting Ready for War.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Dec. 1.—Recent discussion anent the necessity or wisdom of getting ready for the next war will bear fruit, it is promised, in the form of the introduction at the forthcoming session of Congress of a bill that contemplates the most extraordinary piece of legislation ever proposed in this or any other country.

The author of the measure insists that his identity be shrouded in mystery. It is not even permitted to be disclosed whether he is a member of the Senate or of the House. He is willing, however, that a general outline of the proposed measure shall be published, in order, he says, that he may get the public reaction to his revolutionary idea. He believes that thereby he may secure suggestions that will be helpful in the final drafting of his bill. In fact, he invites criticisms and amendment because, he admits, his proposal is as yet far from perfected.

The bill in its original form carries a long and rather involved title. Boiled down and translated into words understandable by those for whom laws are enacted it means, "A bill for an act providing for universal conscription in time of war."

Similarly, the text of the measure is involved and, to the layman, more than a bit hazy, but the author declares that is due merely to the fact that he is compelled by reason of legislative precedents to express his intent in terminology that must call for a Supreme Court decision before anybody can be sure precisely what it means. He admits that that is one of the greatest difficulties he has to overcome and says he has been handicapped from the outset because he does not possess a legalistic mind and has been confused by the legal advice he has sought and received.

"I know what I'm trying to get at," he said in outlining his proposal. "It is that when this country goes into another war everybody in the country must go into the war on an equal basis. That sounds like it ought to be easy—just as simple as the Declaration of Independence where it says that all men are created equal. But try to put it into a bill that Congress will pass and that the courts will let you get away with!"

Everybody in the War.

The nub of the proposal is that when and if the Congress of the United States shall declare war, immediately all citizens of the country shall be inducted into war service and all property shall be taken over by the Government as essential to the successful prosecution of the war. All citizens shall receive identical compensation for the period of their service, and property, or capital, shall receive no return whatever.

That is rather difficult of elucidation, but the idea is that when the country goes to war the men — and women—who are physically fit to be sent to the front will not be handicapped and distressed by thinking constantly of those at home who may be finding war not merely easy but soft—and profitable. It is argued, also, in support of such a proposal, that the man in the trenches who was about to be commanded to go over the top woud be in a measure reconciled to his performance of the obligated duty if he could know that no one could benefit from his fighting and dying except the country whose flag he had enshrined in his heart.

There is the further proposal in the proposed bill—absurd as it may seem—that the fighting men of the nation's army should not be required to make a move until and unless they were led by the general who had decided that the movement should be made. This provision is expected to evoke criticism on the ground that it is retrogressive rather than progressive—exalting valor rather than strategy—but the author of the bill declares he knows what he is doing, or seeking to do.

"Pick yourself out the world's greatest general," he says. "I choose Alexander and you can have all the rest. Now I want to see the next war develop a great general—one of those old boys who didn't wear spurs to keep his feet from slipping off his desk, but who waved his sword and said 'Men, follow me!' instead of telephoning his orders. Of course I know that means sacrificing a lot of generals, but it will save a lot of captains, looeys and tops. What I mean is, I want to get war back on a personal basis. Let those fight who believe in war and who choose fighting as a profession. I thought of putting in my bill a provision that every member of Congress who voted to declare war would be automatically enrolled as one of the first troops to be sent to the front, but I decided that if I did that we'd likely never have another war, and a lot of people seem to think we need one."

Chief of Police Peter Murphy Leaves Midland Place Dec. 31

Borough Council Committee Announces Department Will Not be Re-appointed Served for Nine Years.

Peter M. Murphy, Midland police chief since May 1926, will not be re-appointed chief at the expiration of his present term on December 31, according to decision of the borough council.

Chief Murphy, who was informed of the decision at a conference with members of the police committee yesterday, declared that no animosity exists between him and Steel City council. "A most aimiable atmosphere surrounded yesterday's conference," Murphy said today.

The police committee and officers of the borough governing body did not assign any specific reason for their action.

"We credit Murphy with establishing the most efficient police body Midland has ever had," Robert Lloyd, president and member of the police committee, said today.

No successor has been selected.

All sergeants and patrolmen have been requested to submit applications for reappointment next month.

Murphy in a statement today said he will retire from police work and, after a vacation of several months, will engage in business. His family will return to Connellsville.

The retiring chief entered police work after spending nine years in the U. S. army, serving in the Phillippine Islands. He spent 15 years as police officer.

He was brought to Midland a year and a half ago from Connellsville, where he served as chief for four years. Previous to that time, he spent eight years in the Pennsylvania state constabulary.

Murphy was then made Fayette county detective with instructions to "clean up the county."

GIRL'S DEATH PROVES MYSTERY

Officials of Birmingham, Ala., are investigating the death of pretty Louise Monteabaro, who was found in her automobile with a bullet hole in her head. Police had arrested her for speeding and the officers declared she committed suicide while one of them was riding in the car with her. Unexplained circumstances, however, have caused authorities to question the suicide theory. The girl, who lived in Berlin, Ala., was 26 and a sewing machine saleswoman.

FORMER CHIEF LENGEL BACK IN CANTON JAIL

MELLETT DEATH SUSPECT WILL SEEK FREEDOM

Deputy Sheriffs Escort Him From Prison.

HE IS HAPPY

Defense Will Launch Move for Release on Bond.

CANTON, O., Dec. 2.—S. A. Lengel, ex-chief of the Canton police department, granted a new trial by the appellate court, after being convicted of complicity in the Don Mellett murder, here over a year ago, and sentenced to life imprisonment in the state penitentiary, was back in the Stark county jail today.

Lengel left Columbus at 5:10 p. m. Thursday, being brought to Canton via the Pennsylvania lines, by deputy sheriffs. The party reached Canton at 8:50 p. m.

It is expected that defense attorneys will immediately launch proceedings to effect Lengel's release on bond, pending arrangements for the new trial.

Lengel was in good spirits today and told jail attaches he was glad to get back to Canton. He was assigned the same cell which he occupied previous to his former trial.

Prosecutor Harter has already filed application to submit the Lengel case for review, with the state supreme court. A hearing on the motion is expected to start on December 20.

Hearing on December 20.

COLUMBUS, O., Dec. 2.—Ohio penitentiary officials and prisoners today missed former Police Chief Seranus A. Lengel, of Canton, who left the big state prison, enroute to the county jail at Canton, at 5 p. m. yesterday.

Lengel's return to Canton was the result of the refusal of the Ohio supreme court this week to interfere with the mandate of the Stark county appellate court providing for Lengel's transfer to the Stark county jail pending a new trial. Lengel was sentenced to life imprisonment in the penitentiary after being convicted of first degree murder in connection with the slaying of Don R. Mellett, Canton newspaper publisher. The jury recommended mercy. Lengel protested his innocence.

The supreme court is scheduled to conduct a hearing here December 20 relative to the appeal of Prosecuting Attorney Henry W. Harter, Jr., of Stark county, for a reversal of the appellate court's order that Lengel be given a new trial.

10-DAY YULE VACATION HERE

Schools Close on Dec. 23, Reopen January 3.

A 10-day vacation will be given in the East Liverpool public schools during the Christmas season, members of the board of education decided last night in approving the recommendations of Superintendent Charles S. McVay.

Schools will close on Friday, December 23, and re-open on Tuesday, January 3. Inasmuch as New Year's day falls on Sunday, the holiday will be observed on Monday and this day will be included in the vacation period.

Yuletide programs will be featured on the closing afternoon. Classes will dismiss early to permit out-of-town teachers to leave for home on the afternoon trains.

The board also approved Superintendent McVay's High school Principal Ludwig's plan by which the high school pupil doing "unsatisfactory work" will be notified at the middle of each six-week grade period. Notification also will be served upon the parents.

Flood Menaces New York State.

ROCHESTER, N. Y., Dec. 2.—Emergency pumps were in readiness, an army of men was laboring tirelessly erecting ramparts and temporary dykes, and the entire city was in a state of apprehension today as an 11-foot wall of water swept down the Genesee river channel toward Rochester—the climax of three days of costly flood conditions in western and central New York.

The crest of the flood that passed over the Mt. Morris power dam at a record height exceeding 11 feet yesterday, was expected to tear through Rochester some time this afternoon.

Every effort has been made by public utility corporations whose plants and power stations line the Genesee river to remove immense quantities of debris. Several hundred men, assisted by cranes, worked throughout the night to avert the danger of a jam when the crest strikes.

Meanwhile, every highway along the river valley has been inundated and work of rescuing marooned farmers and motorists was rushed in expectation of the still higher water.

Tributaries of the Genesee, thrown back by the rising waters, have flooded an enormous extent of lowlands, taxing every agency in the rescue of stock and human beings. Rapidly falling temperatures were adding to the suffering.

"CARRY BUNDLE" APPEAL MADE

Merchants, through Secretary H. B. Barth of the Retail Merchants' Division of the Chamber of Commerce today joined in an appeal to holiday shoppers to carry their bundles whenever possible.

"East Liverpool stores, this year, are experiencing the heaviest volume of early Christmas shopping in their history," Barth said. "As a result, store organizations are being taxed to their capacity. Mistakes in deliveries which in normal season can be guarded against are much more likely to occur during a rush such as we now are experiencing.

"This temporary condition can be materially improved if our citizens generally will carry with them the smaller packages."

cool, firm, patient, sagacious, tolerant, kind, Christian."

Mr. Coolidge is all those things and some others, but he agrees with George Washington that the people don't want any President for life, not even if the Angel Gabriel came down and offered to take the job.

A monument to Theodore Roosevelt will be erected above the Culebra Cut overlooking the Panama Canal. Roosevelt deserves the honor; the monument should be a fine one.

All his interesting talks, advising women to have nineteen children, etc., will be forgotten. But the fact that he put through the Panama Canal will NOT be forgotten. In that he rendered his country great service.

REPORTS FROM STOCK MARKETS

NEW YORK, Dec. 2.—Sharp rallies in the motor and specialty stocks at the beginning of trading today, in the face of a new $29,500,000 increase in brokers' loans, signalized the complete dominance of bullish forces in the stock market. Within the first half-hour Montgomery Ward recovered all of its five point reaction sustained near Thursday's close, Houston Oil jumped six points to 165 1-2; Industrial Alcohol rose seven to 96; Greene Cananea pushed forward spectacularly to 102, and sharp recoveries were made by General Motors, U. S. Steel, Collins and Aikman, Nash Motors and American Smelting.

In view of the wide upward swing in prices over the past week, Wall street looked for a larger increase in the weekly tabulation of brokers' loans than the $29,500,000 reported by the federal reserve board. It was estimated that the December disbursements for interest and dividends would top $500,000,000, the largest in the history for the period, creating an enormous fund for re-investment in stocks and bonds. Copper prices finally reached the 14-cent level, with 14¼ cents quoted for export metal.

Shorts in the fast-moving specialties found no opportunity to extricate themselves from the traps laid for them by the bulls.

C. OF C. VOTES ON FLOOD PLAN

The board of directors of the Chamber of Commerce at a meeting in the Little building last night cast its vote on Referendum No. 51, submitted by the United States Chamber of Commerce, and dealing with the Mississippi flood control.

The local organization opposed the recommendation of the national committee that the federal government should hereafter pay the entire cost of constructing and maintaining works necessary to control floods of the lower Mississippi river. Opposition urged that the federal government assume the sole responsibility for locating, constructing and maintaining such works.

Observe Music Night At Centennial Meet

Prof. Alberto Reardon and Students From His Schoolof Music Appear at Methodist Episcopal Church.

Music, most universally appealing of all the arts, constituted the fifth night's centenary anniversary departure at the First Methodist church, Fifth and Jackson streets, last evening, its vehicle being an artist students' recital by present attendants of the Reardon School of Music of Youngstown, Ohio, with Alberto Reardon, the institution's head, as director and Mrs. Reardon, his associate, the soprano soloist.

Greeted by an audience that all but filled the large auditorium and gallery, the program, composed of outstanding classical numbers, deeply impressed the hearers. Spellbound, they sat on at its conclusion. Realizing finally its end they rushed forward to extol and congratulate all the participants.

The event's success was doubly pleasing in that in keeping with former figures of the centennial offerings of the week having one time or another been connected with East Liverpool, Mr. and Mrs. Reardon, until a decade ago, also liveed here for 11 years where in teaching, studying, playing and singing they laid much of the groundwork of their musical attainments.

With Director Reardon, for more than a quarter of a century a consistent student of his chosen art and a stickler for accuracy in every necessary detail of its accomplishment, the entire contribution of some two hours length was accordingly concluded without the slightest suggestion of discord.

The heights of direction and performance were reached in the opening and closing ensemble offerings when master and pupils in concerted movements interpreted such standard pieces as (a) Minuet in G by Beethoven; (b) Vorspiel (Lohengrin) by Wagner; (c) Wedding March (Lohengrin) by Wagner and (d) Polonaise Op. 40 No. 1 by Chopin.

In the first two of these there was left nothing to be desired in finesse of tone, expression, feeling, attack and release as they were used. This minuet of Beethoven belongs to the dignified class yet has inherent in it a sprightliness that is appealing, both of which qualities were keenly exhibited in the exquisite mechanism of the youthful symphonists.

Wagner's Wedding March enthralled by the warmth of its sentiment and Polonaise op. 40 No. 1 by Chopin, being of the Spanish type and carrying all the temperamental coloring of that romantic race furnished in conclusion an apex to a crescendo of genuine approval.

With two groups of songs, one secular and the other sacred, Mrs. Reardon, long known hereabouts as a singer of sympathetic appeal, genuinely pleased with a voice marked by easy delivery that gave out warmful tones. Poiseful and with an absence of all affectation she sang with feeling, being clear and meriting understanding. At no time were there visible efforts on her part. Her inate simplicity of manner thus gave added strength to the varied selections utilized by her. Depicting pathos, joy, love and sorrow "In the Dark, In the Dew" by Combe and "Yesterday and Today" by Spron were well received. Likewise "The Rosary," indicating the serenity and resignation of life's purposes, with the ultimate triumph of spiritual accomplishments, was effectively sung.

She excelled in (a) Open the Gates of the Temple, by Knapp, a song that has been for years a favorite among all peoples and with (b) Goin' Home, a spiritual, by Dvorak. In the former of these two she was accompanied ony by the stringed instruments of the ensemble which heightened her very compelling interpretation thereof.

Two piano numbers were given: (a) Gavotte by D'Albert and (b) Sparks by Moszkowski by Miss Stella Gifford, and (a) Impromptu A Flat by Chopin and (b) Polichinelle by Rachmaninoff by Miss Mary Schnetzel.

Miss Gifford exhibited a flexibility of finger technique that drew out beautiful tones in the broad interpretation she gave of the works played. Miss Gifford, a student at the school, is also a teacher in it.

Miss Schaetzel, though but a high school girl of 16 years, was entirely unaffected in the mental process necessary for her contributions. She had ample technique in handling her selections in a manner that drew out their desired warm and sonorous tones. Her work was brilliantly done.

In addition to these members Miss Schaetzel was the accompanist at the piano during all the program's offerings at which she exhibited admirable canabilities.

George Martinko contributed a cello number, Romance (D Minor Concerto) by Gotterman. The offering required particular hand facility and a physical fitness which he easily indicated. He drew beautiful tones that were marvels for melody. He had easy poise and marked skill that apparently showed no effort in his very capable performance.

With two brothers, Carmine and Michael Ficocelli, being the principals, the violin offerings of the program stood out. The former gave F. Sharp Minot Concerto by Vieuxtemns and the latter Concerto A Minor No. 22 by Violti.

The former has been a pupil of Mr. Reardon for ten and the latter for nine years and in that interim neither has missed a weekly lesson. Two other children of their family are making marked progress with the piano and violin respectively.

Both played with ease and understanding. They had depth of tone and showed outstandin feeling and expression.

Michael, the youngest, is but 17 and Carmine but a few years his senior. They easily played their way into the appreciation of their audience.

Each of the violinists of the ensemble are pupils of Mr. Reardon. The latter throughout the years has never lost interest and has been a constant student of the violin with a corresponding acquirement of the high character of music in general.

"The Reardon School of Music," declared Dr. Warren Hawkins, the pastor, himself formerly of Youngstown, "I have long known of. Its influence is already felt throughout the city and gone beyond it. We are exceedingly glad to have representatives of it with its directing heads with us as a part of our anniversary celebration. They have come without financial remuneration and as a token of the love they bear East Liverpool, once Mr. and Mrs. Reardon's home. We are all filled with deep appreciation.

Later Mr. and Mrs. Reardon said, "Nothing has so pleased us as to be able to come back to East Liverpool on such an occasion as this. We remember this, our former home, with pleasure. Eleven years residence here has begotten fond memories. We are filled with appreciation in coming back to you in any way."

The ensemble was composed of Michael and Carmine Ficocelli, William Omeis, Theodore Ssiky, Arthur Canning, Margaret Little, Albert Rose, Ruth Heindel, Arthur Bell, Tony Saggio, Eddie Rode, violins; George Martinko and Jacob Huebert, cellos; Stella Gifford and Mary Schaetzel, piano.

Accompanying the ensemble were Miss Helen McGiffen, head of the school's piano department, Miss Alberta Lomax, confidential secretary and Miss Charlotte Reardon, the young daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Reardon, who in addition to her work as a high school student is studying violin and piano. In her latter capacities she does junior recital work.

The participants in the recital made the trip from and to Youngstown in a special bus. They arrived at 4 o'clock in the afternoon.

Previous to the recital they were guests of the church officials at a dinner given in the club room of the Travelers' hotel at which Mr. and Mrs. William O. Bloor were the denomination's representatives.

Dr. Hawkins announced a meeting of all captains of the debt drive in the church office this evening and another on Saturday night at 8 o'clock when Bishop John W. Hamilton, of Washington, D. C., the Sunday speaker, will be present to confer with them.

Another Youngstown musical organization, "The Young Men's Brotherhood Glee Club," of that city will sing at this evening's anniversary program when Dr. W. E. Hammaker, "Ohio's greatest preacher," the pastor of Trinity church, Youngstown, will make an address. The singers will be directed by Prof. W. H. Felger.

No service, it was announced, will be held on Saturday night.

filling station in West Eighth street.

Solon Farrall stated that it was his understanding that the work was to have been inspected by the city engineer and he failed to understand why a bill should have been sent the company. It was brought out later that the bill was sent by the engineering firm of Clapsaddle & Kirke. This ended the matter as both members of council and Thompson stated that it was not within the power of council to appropriate money to pay any part of the bill. The motor company had stated they would pay half, although it was declared they did not authorize inspection of the work.

Budget Proposals.

Resolution was adopted awarding the budget ordinance providing the following additional amounts for various departments: Municipal court $300; safety department, $175; service department, $380; health board, $122.50; park fund $150; library fund, $50, or a total of $1,177.50.

Resolution authorizing the payment of $5,000 as the city's share of additional expense connected with the West Eighth street improvement was placed on second reading after a motion to suspend the rules was defeated when it was opposed by Kelly and Farrall.

Ordinance covering the assessment for the improvement of Avondale street was passed on third reading, 5 to 2. Farrall and Kelly cast the dissenting votes.

Resolution accepting the report of the budget committe relative to the city's millage was on motion made part of the records of council.

MADDENED MAN INJURES GIRL IN BOMB BLAST

School Explosion Follows Illinois Love Tragedy.

TEACHER DYING

Dynamite Placed in Stove by Young Farmer.

OTTAWA, Ill., Dec. 2. — Maddened by a love tragedy, Hiram Reed, 24-year-old farmer, placed two sticks of dynamite in the stove of the Pleasant Valley school here today causing a terrific detonation which probably fatally injured Miss Iola Bradford, 24, school teacher, and narrowly missed claiming the lives of two score small children.

Miss Bradford arrived at the school earlier than her usual time, and applied a match to the waste material in the stove, within which was hidden the deadly charge. A blast followed, wrecking the building.

A 9-year-old school girl, about to step into the structure, ran screaming for aid. Farmers pulled Miss Bradford from the debris and rushed her to a hospital.

Reed was captured by a posse and was taken under armed guard to prevent a lynching to the county jail here where he confessed the action, authorities said.

Reed, after postponing his marriage to Miss Bradford upon numerous occasions, finally consented under duress, to marry the girl Sunday, police stated.

Miss Bradford is the daughter of a retired minister of Chillicothe, Ill.

TWO AUTOMOBILES REPORTED STOLEN

Ford coupe, 1926 model, belonging to Jessie Henry, 812 Dresden avenue, was stolen while parked near the First Methodist Episcopal church, West Fifth street, while the owner was attending services last night. The machine carried license, No. (Star) 77-152.

Ford roadster, the property of Homer Mercer, Congo, was taken Wednesday night while parked near the Harris-Buick garage, West Fifth street. The license number carried by the car was West Virginia 129-683.

A memorial to the 4,847 Indian soldiers who died in France during the World War has been unveiled at Neuve Capelle.

SLEEPING MAN PUZZLES DOCTOR

NEW PHILADELPHIA, O., Dec. 2.—Attending physicians today were puzzled concerning the condition of John Smatcha, of Chicago, who, except for about two hours, has been sleeping constantly since last Tuesday. He is in Union hospital here.

Smatcha became ill soon after arriving at New England, a village near here, to arrange for the funeral of his late father-in-law, John Klick. After sleeping 48 hours, he awoke, but fell asleep again two hours later.

field will be a cindered running track. On the east side of the field there will be another practice field for use in other athletics, such as soft ball and hockey. On the filled-in shelf to the north of the practice field there will be tennis courts, while on the level section next to West Eighth street there will be a playground for children. The baseball diamond would be directly in front of the proposed new grand stand.

Proposes Seven-foot Fence.

Main entrance to the grounds, Daugherty proposes, will be in West Eighth street. Another entrance will be provided along the West Fourth street extension. Separate fences will be erected around the tennis courts and playgrounds.

The board's plans call for the construction of a seven-foot galvanized metal mesh fence around the entire field. This type, the engineer said, is used almost universally for athletic field purposes.

Daugherty was unable to submit any figures relative to the cost of the proposed improvement but promised to make an investigation into the probable expense of constructing the sewer under the railroad tracks and also regarding the concrete grandstand. Beneath the grandstand, he said, there could be placed shower baths and dressing rooms.

Opposes Temporary Improvement.

Attorney Frank E. Grosshans appeared as a representative of "certain taxpayers" who were "opposed to any type of temporary improvement." He suggested that the board should seek the co-operation of city council and influential citizens in a plan which would mean the reclaiming all of the lowlands between the Golding & Sons flint mill in an effort to provide a beautiful park for the city. He also urged the construction of a viaduct from the end of West Sixth street to connect with West Eighth street along the route of the present street car viaduct. This improvement, he said, could be made with funds in the War Chest, the viaduct being in the form of a memorial for ex-service men.

Grosshans declared that the board should "show its hand" and inform the people regarding plan for the improvement before any decision is reached or contracts awarded. He declared that to erect a fence around the field in its present condition would be only a temporary arrangement and would meet with opposition.

Representatives of several fence manufacturers attended the meeting and submitted bids for the furnishing materials.

The board decided to consider no bids until the drainage plan had been worked out.

If Engineer Daugherty's plans are approved, automobiles will be barred from the grounds after the improvements are made. He asserted that cars would damage the field in wet weather.

STRAND BOOKS KELSO REVUE

Vaudeville Feast Slated for Next Week.

East Liverpool is to have a vaudeville feast next Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday in the coming of Kelso Brothers Krazy Kwilt revue to the Strand theatre. It is a unit show, of four stellar acts that are rolled into one.

Kelso Brothers are known on the vaudeville stage as "The Kings of Comedy" and their vehicle of fun and laughter is called the "Krazy Kwilt Revue." Of course, a Krazy Kwilt is made up of many different kinds and colors—a variety. Just so with Kesso Brothers.

To those that like "hokum," Kelso Brothers supply it in unbroken doses.

The action occurs around a circus and carries with it the circus atmosphere. In order to bring about more reality of the "big top" Smithly's Jungle Lions will be put through their paces at the crack of a whip and the point of a pistol. This act, however, is only one of the four that make up the greatest offering to be seen at the Strand in this or any other season.

The company comes from the Capitol theatre, Steubenville.

Directing Manager Templin is in the city arranging for the show.

A daily matinee staring Monday and the usual two shows at night in conjunction with a feature photoplay will be the program.

5,616 DOG TAGS ISSUED IN 1927

There were 5,616 dog licenses sold in Columbiana county during the year, according to the record announced today by County Auditor Elmer E. Walker. New 1928 dog licenses were placed on sale Thursday, and No. 1 license was obtained by Sheriff George Wright.

The first automobile license for 1928 as issued at Lisbon has been secured by Mrs. George Wright, the number being 467-001, the first of the series sent to Lisbon from the department at Columbus.

Judgment Rendered.

There was a trial to the court in the case of the Potters Savings & Loan company of East Liverpool against Bert Woods and others, which was an action in foreclosure, and a judgment for the plaintiff for $3,088.75 and costs has been rendered by the court in favor of the plaintiff.

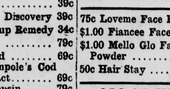
The Only Safe Way to Judge Diamonds



Prices $75 $100 $175

Choice Designs

Color and perfection rather than size and weight determine the true value of a diamond.
Since the untrained eye cannot accurately appreciate these qualities, the only safe way to buy diamonds is to depend upon honest, expert judgment.
You can rely on our long experience and recognized business standing in the purchase of a really fine diamond or a Green Watch.

ACIDITY CAUSES 90% DIGESTION TROUBLE

Avoid Fancy Treatments and Remove this Cause

While many things, directly or indirectly, may cause stomach trouble, any medical man will tell you that over nine-tenths of all cases of indigestion are due to or accompanied by acidity and food fermentation. Excess acid accumulates in the stomach and turns the food into a sickening, fermenting mass which produces painful gases and still more acid, and is usually directly responsible for indigestion, dyspepsia, heartburn, acidity, flatulence, and gastritis.

Obviously you can not remedy these disorders by improving your blood or nerves, nor by clearing your system of impurities. Excellent as these processes may be as conducive to good health, they will not rid you of that harmful stomach acid. To do this quickly, safely and surely, you should take a little "Pape's Diapepsin" after eating or when pain is felt. This not only gives quick relief by instantly neutralizing stomach acid, but soothes and heals your acid-inflamed stomach lining.

"Pape's Diapepsin" is sold by all druggists at 60 cents a package, and is used by millions because it is not a "cure-all medicine" which pretends to remedy a hundred and one ills—"Pape's Diapepsin" stops indigestion instantly because it removes the cause.

THE site of Hotel Cleveland, on the Public Square of Cleveland, has been used continuously for hotels since 1802. The original building was Mowrey's Tavern—a station on the old Post Road.

In Hotel Cleveland—the most modern successor to a long line of famous hotels—you'll find the same hearty hospitality, the same friendly helpfulness of those old coaching days. We like to see to it that you enjoy your stay here.

MRS. STEWART THOMPSON HOSTESS AT LUNCHEON AT HER HOME

Color Scheme of Pink and White Predominates at First of Series of Parties Here.

The first of a series of luncheon parties was given yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Stewart Thompson in East Third street. The small table were decorated with tall tapers tied with tulle. A color scheme of pink and white predominated. The hostess was assisted in receiving the guests by Mrs. George C. Thompson.

Following the luncheon, seven tables of cards were in progress. Trophies were awarded Mesdames C. V. Beatty and Homer J. Taylor.

Mrs. Thompson will receive at luncheon-bridge this afternoon.

Don't count on Carrie!

Do menstrual periods make you a stay-at-home certain days of every month? They needn't! And you need not endure one pang of pain if you'll accept the assistance of Midol.

Midol makes menstruation an incident! No pain, not even discomfort, is necessary now. Women who used to have the very hardest time have found this to be true. Midol is a marvelous product; the work of specialists. It is not a narcotic. But it stops all pain in five to seven minutes. Taken in time, the pain never starts. All drugstores have Midol, in aluminum pocket case for fifty cents, so it's folly to suffer!

THORNTON-BURSON WEDDING HERE

Mr. and Mrs. O. D. Thornton of Cadmus street announce the marriage of their daughter, Miss Ruth Ann Thornton, to Ralph Burson, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Burson of Globe street. The ceremony was performed in the parsonage of the Wellsville Baptist church on Saturday, November 26.

The bride was gowned in poudre blue crepe with hat to match, and wore a corsage of roses.

Miss Margaret S. Lawrence and James Shaffer were the attendants.

After December 10 Mr. and Mrs. Burson will be at home to friends in Monroe street. The bridegroom is employed by the Crucible Steel company in Midland.

VELTO TRIAL IS POSTPONED

Shooting Victims Fail to Appear When Case is Called.

Trial of Frank Velto, Weirton, charged with the shooting of Joseph Augo and Frank Spalforna, was postponed when called Wednesday in circuit court at New Cumberland. Action was taken when it was discovered that Augo and Spalforna failed to appear in court.

The men, released 10 days ago from the Ohio Valley hospital in Steubenville, it was stated had left the county. Warrants for their arrest were issued by Prosecuting Attorney Thomas Hoffman. The trial will probably come up at the March term of court.

Suit brought by Frank Goff in behalf of his 12-year-old son against W. H. Morgan and wife for $35,000 damages inflicted when the boy is alleged to have lost the sight of his left eye when struck by a pair of scissors in the hands of Mrs. Morgan, was scheduled for trial today.

In the bill of complaint, it is alleged that young Goff was helping Mrs. Morgan paper at her home when struck by the scissors. Mr. and Mrs. Morgan are proprietors of the Lincoln building and theatre in Holliday's Cove. State Senator W. S. Wilkin and Attorney R. L. Ramsey of Wellsburg are representing the plaintiff.

MISSION SOCIETY MEETS TONIGHT

SILVERTHORN IS GIVEN VERDICT

Awarded $3,200 by Jury in Suit for Damages Against City.

Verdict of $3,200 was returned against the city of Chester last night by a jury in circuit court at New Cumberland in the personal damage action brought by Frank Silverthorn, carpenter, who was injured in a fall last June over an embankmeent near his home in Middle Run.

The case occupied the greater part of the day. Number of witnesses were called including several city officials.

The plaintiff was represented by Senator W. S. Wilkin of Wellsburg, while the interests of the city were looked after by Attorney W. W. Ingram.

BANQUET PLANNED FOR GRIDDERS

The thirteenth annual banquet for the West Virginia university football squad will be held in the Morgantown Country club dining room Monday, December 5, at 6:30 p. m.

Invitations have been sent to the varsity football squad, the coaching staff, the members of the athletic board, several members of the faculty and athletic department, including President Trotter, Director Stansbury and Alumni Secretary F. Roy Yoke, and also to a number of sports writers.

Gilbert B. Miller, a veteran of many football banquets, will serve as toastmaster and have charge of the program, which will consist of several speeches, after which the captain and the manager of the 1928 Mountaineers will be chosen.

SUNDAY SCHOOL TO GIVE CANTATA

Members of the Sunday school of the First Presbyterian church will meet at 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon in the church when plans will be formed for presentation of a cantata during the Christmas season.

The canta entitled, "Make Believe Santa Claus," will be given in the church on Friday evening, December 23.

OHIO MINISTER TO FILL PULPIT

Rev. P. M. Holdeman, of Zanesville, O., will preach at the morning and evening services Sunday in the First United Presbyterian church.

The pulpit has been vacant since the resignation of Rev. W. J. H. McKnight who accepted a charge near Buffalo, N. Y.

DRIVE LAUNCHED BY GAME WARDEN

Campaign is being waged against fish and game law violators in Hancock county and vicinity by district game warden, J. Howard Elbert. He reported that seven arrests had been made during the drive.

Violations included in the arrested were for hunting without proper licenses, hunting by unnaturalized citizens and for hunting game out of season.

Warden Elbert plans to conduct a similar campaign in Brooke county.

Bake Sale Arranged.

Women of the First United Presbyterian church will hold a bake sale tomorrow in the Kimble store, Carolina avenue.

Sebring

Lying in wait from 9 o'clock Monday night until 6 o'clock Tuesday morning Marshal Charles Baumgartner, aided by Special Officer Joe Mills and Homer Barber of Beloit, arrested the owner of a huge still on the road near North Benton. C. R. Boughtman was taken into custody. The still was of 25 gallon capacity.

Mrs. Thomas Akenhead, West Ohio avenue entertained the Harmony club at her home Tuesday evening. The evening was spent in games, contests and making fancy work. Mrs. Elmer Shafer won first prize in the contest. Mrs. Akenhead assisted by Mrs. Brown served lunch. The club will meet again December 7 at the home of Mrs. John Berry, Pleasant Heights.

Miss Velma Korte, Sebring, was operated on for appendicitis at the Alliance City hospital, Monday.

Mrs. Joseph Daniels, Pleasant Heights, who underwent an operation in the Alliance City hospital has been brought home.

Mrs. W. R. Stewart and daughter, of Warren, are spending a few days visiting her mother, Mrs. C. Funkhouser, of Sebring.

Efforts are being made to organize a Loyal Temperance Legion in Sebring. Miss Ruth Reedy recently entertained a number of young men and women, between the ages of 10 and 15 years at the Reedy home on Vermont avenue.

Edward Stanley, manager of the Buckeye Building and Loan association, was Rotary speaker Tuesday night at Erb's. Stanley traced the history of the loan company, not for Sebring but for the entire country.

The Sebring Rotary club with the assistance of Miss Elizabeth Mills, county health nurse, is gathering a list of crippled children to remember at Christmas.

Memorial services were held by the Eastern Star at a special meeting Tuesday evening in the Masonic hall. Two candidates were also initiated. On December 6, recently elected officers will be installed.

GEORGIA MUST STOP TORNADO TO SURVIVE

Spotless Record and National Recognition at Stake in Clash With Tech; U. S. C., to Play Washington.

By Davis J. Walsh.

NEW YORK, Dec. 2.—Anything can happen in football, they say, possibly even a touchback on a safety, and beyond all doubt several things will tomorrow, as the pastime makes a formal but not altogether official exeunt, whatever that may be. Perhaps the University of Georgia, about to conclude what probably has been its greatest season, will find out. Perhaps not. Anyhow, the Bulldogs must beat Georgia Tech at Atlanta within 24 hours or that wonderful record will become a grand old ruin. Incidentally, it might be mentioned that a lot of fair football teams have experienced difficulty in beating Tech within 24 years.

Three thousand miles away, in Los Angeles to be precise, the boys from southern California who lost the football game to Notre Dame on either a short or a long count or something or maybe nothing, will meet Washington in a game that was a long time coming but will make up for all lost motion, if any. Just as the Georgia-Georgia Tech meeting will decide the southern conference championship, so will the Washington-U. S. C. affair dispose of the coast conference title.

That is, it will decide whether the race is to end in a tie or whether a team that has nothing to do with the game at all is to become the champion, namely and to wit, Stanford. For the Trojans must win this one from a very good team to even get a tie in the race, whereas before last Saturday they were undefeated the country over and riding high toward the national, instead of a mere sectional championship.

Georgia stands in much the same position today. It is the only major team in the country that has survived its schedule without either defeat or tie; and the only team to win from a fine Yale eleven. But one misstep tomorrow will mean a collapse of everything, for thereby Georgia not only would blow its chance at the national title but the southern championship as well. And it can be done.

In fact, the way those virile gents play each other down in Georgia, anything is possible. Tech not only has a good football team but it has enjoyed a fair season, losing only to Notre Dame when the Irish were at the top of their stride and battling a sound Vanderbilt outfit to a scoreless tie. Georgia Tech has a real fighting chance to win.

So has Washington out on the coast. It hasn't had to travel east to Chicago, take a one-point beating it doesn't think it deserved and then return home to play a game on which will hang the success or failure of a season. Physically, the odds are slightly in favor of Washington because of that Chicago junket. Psychologically and on paper, the Trojans come into their own.

They got a tie with Stanford while Washington got a defeat. They apparently have one of the greatest scoring threats in the country in Drury and the better attacking line. And, lest we forget, that incident of the touchback or safety in Chicago should key them up to get the fighting jump, even if the matter of the coast championship failed in this respect, which is hardly likely.

Still, a traveling team is often a losing team and the Trojans have done more than the huskies in the last week, the latter's jaunt from Seattle being a minor consideration by comparison.

CANZONERI WINS FROM FILIPINO

NEW YORK, Dec. 2.—The claim of Tony Canzoneri of Brooklyn to the featherweight championship was strengthened today by his victory over Ignacio Fernandez, youthful Filipino star, in a ten round bout here last night. Canzoneri won by the closest of margins, however, as the brown man put up a great battle.

AT WILKESBARRE, Pa.— Tom Kirby, of Boston, won decision over Allentown Joe Gans, 10 rounds.

Juanito Valdez, Youngstown, Ohio, won from Eddie Meyers, Detroit bantam, 8 rounds.

AT LOWELL, Mass.—Billy Murphy, Lowell bantam, won from Harry Brignolia, Cambridge, Mass., 10 rounds.

Wins Golf Tourney

Dazzy Vance, premier hurling ace of the Brooklyn Dodgers, turned his starring abilities to golf the other day when he won the amateur tournament which signalized opening of the golf course at Dunedin, Fla., for the winter season. Dazzy's winter home is in Dunedin.

BURKE CAPTAIN OF NAVY ELEVEN

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Dec. 2.—Edward J. Burke will captain the Navy's football team next year. His election by his teammates was unanimous. Burke, who is 19 and weighs 175 pounds, played guard this season. His home is in Wilkesbarre, Pa.

Conference Heads Meet In Chicago

Big 10 Officials Open Annual Pow-wow Today.

CHICAGO, Dec. 2.—Officials of the Big Ten universities comprising the Western Conference assembled in Chicago today for their annual pow-wow on inter-collegiate athletics.

Rules and regulations governing all phases of athletic competition among the schools will be discussed.

Officials attending the two-day session include faculty representatives, athletic directors and coaches.

Today's program opened with a meeting of the athletic directors, track coaches, ticket managers, basketball coaches, wrestling and gymnastic coaches. At noon the athletic directors of 20 state high schools will hold a luncheon at the Hotel Sherman, with addresses scheduled by Fielding Yost of Michigan and others.

Athletic directors, baseball and swimming coaches were slated to gather at 1:30, while tonight practically all the coaches, representatives and others will gather at the Palmer House as guests of the Commonwealth club.

Unfinished business will be cared for tomorrow when the coaches and faculty members will meet in a luncheon at the University club to discuss rules.

PURDUE'S GRID CARD COMPLETE

LAFAYETTE, Ind., Dec. 2.—The 1928 Purdue football schedule was being scanned today following its release by the athletic department. It calls for five Big Ten conference games. The complete schedule follows:

Oct. 6—Depauw at Lafayette.
Oct. 13—Purdue at Minnesota.
Oct. 20—Wisconsin at Lafayette.
Oct. 27—Purdue at Chicago.
Nov. 3—Case at Lafayette.
Nov. 10—Purdue at Northwestern.
Nov. 17—Wabash at Lafayette.
Nov. 24—Indiana at Lafayette.

Rice Favors West in His All-American

Eleven Different Colleges Represented on Mythical Team.

NEW YORK, Dec. 2.—The 39th annaul All-America football team, as named by Grantland Rice in Collier's Weekly today, is composed of stars from eleven different colleges. In selecting the mythical national team, Rice received the cooperation of numerous well-known coaches.

Only one member of the so-called Big Three appears on the All-America lineup-up. Charlesworth of Yale is chosen as center. No college has more than one representative on the team, and the west predominates, having six of the eleven places.

End, Oosterbaan, Michigan.
Tackle, Raskowski, Ohio State.
Guard, Smith, Notre Dame.
Center, Charlesworth, Yale.
Guard, Crane, Illinois.
Tackle, Smith, Pennsylvania.
End, Nash, Georgia.
Quarterback, Drury, University of Southern California.
Halfback, Cagle, Army.
Halfback, Welch, Pittsburgh.
Fullback, Joesting, Minnesota.

Cuban Fighter Goes Payless In Burns Bout

Saguero is Summoned Before Commission.

CHICAGO, Dec. 2.—Roleaux Saguero, the Cuban light heavyweight, has been summoned to appear before the Illinois boxing commissioners today to state his reasons, if any, why he should be paid for last night's performance against Chuck Burns of Texas.

Saguero and Burns waltzed through the ten-round windup at the Coliseum last night while 4,000 fans who paid approximately $12,000, kept up a continual "boo."

At the end of the bout, which was declared a draw, the commission ordered Saguero's purse held up on the ground that he had pulled his punches and had not tried to fight. Burns was conceded credit for trying.

Salem Entry In Cage Loop Is Proposed

Zange to Confer With Quaker City Men.

SPORTJSALEM—Charles Zange, president of the Columbiana County Amateur Basketball league, today announced that plans were under way in Salem for the organization of a Quaker City entry in the circuit.

The proposed Salem club will be an aggregation accumulated independently of the Mullins and other teams there.

Zange expects to confer with sponsors of the Salem team today or tomorrow.

East Liverpool Elks' club squad worked out last night at the Y. M. C. A. and will hold their final drill of the week tomorrow night at the same place.

Practice sessions are being directed by Captain and Coach Smith Anderson, with practically all of last year's squad save two or three, on the job.

Wolverine Captain

Here is the young man who will boss the University of Michigan football team during the 1928 season. He is George Rich, fullback, just elected captain.

ALL-COUNTY ELEVEN IS STRONG COMBINE

Players From East Liver pool, Salem and Wellsville, Three Leadin g Teams, Comprise Mythical Squad.

What's one man's nectar may be another man's poison, the difference pending principally on opinion and, in some instances, the effect. And, in view of the fact that selecting all-something teams, whether the "selectees" are the most youthful of youthful high school players or the most experienced and highly advertised collegiate stars, is purely a matter of opinion, gleaned from observation and discussion, it is a rare occasion when county, sectional, state or national mythical all-star team pickers agree.

It depends to a great extent on what you like in a football team, although there are some technical phases in connection with a player's performance that cannot be overlooked, whether it is an adeptness at some particular thing or a weakness.

For instance, an end who may be a dream at snagging forward passes and in other offensive plays, but who, defensively, can't turn an end play in, is lacking in the all-around requirements of the position.

Witherow, end on Joe Hurst's East Liverpool county championship claimants, was one of those scholastic ends who fulfills all the requirements of his job and does a few other things by way of emphasizing his ability, and is an unquestionable selection, in our opinion, for an all-county berth.

While some believe that this season's all-county team is weak in comparison to those of former years, it is difficult to see where. There is a line, from tackle to tackle, that shows weight where it is needed, aggressiveness, and a defensive ability better, or at least on a par, with any all-county eleven of recent years.

In the backfield can be found two triple-threat men and a third whose speed can find few equals this season on district gridirons.

And now that these preliminaries, which must be adhered to by any good members of the Amalgamated association of All-Star Football Team Pickers, are over, the 1927 selections will be presented.

Witherow, of East Liverpool, and Allen, of Salem, are the ends. Why Allen? Because, opinion dictates, he would makea wonderful running mate for Witherow. Both have speed for hounding down punt receivers. Both are deadly tacklers and defensive stars of rare ability. Both possess a high amount of football sense. And both are forward pass threats on any and all occasions. Both in a word are smart football players.

The tackles are Clark and Smith of East Liverpool. The two biggest men on the Blue and White line, they have stood out prominently, in ability as well as physique, in every game the Hurstmen have played this year. Clark excelled probably as a defensive tackle while Smith's bulk made holes in opposition lines.

The guard nominees are Debnar, of Salem, and Grindle, of Wellsville. Grindle was probably the most notable figure on the Wellsville line this year and, with another year to play, his work should be even more outstanding. Debnar was a tower of strength for the Red and White in the battle with East Liverpool as well as other contests on the Springer eleven's schedule and merits consideration.

You could almost toss a coin on the center selection, with Scullion, of Salem, and Allison, of East Liverpool, as the candidates. While Salem supporters feel probably that Scullion is the peer of county centers, south county grid followers who have seen Allison will cast their ballots in his direction. The fact that only two teams this year scored on East Liverpool decides in favor of Allison. The fact that he battled center drives from such teams as Bellaire, Martins Ferry, Cleveland Holy Name, Toronto and others would seem to indicate that he knew how to handle the job.

And at no time during the campaign was he forced to leave the game on account of injuries, which also adds to his value to the team.

There was a paucity of outstanding quarterbacks, but for all-around ability, Eschbacher, of Wellsville, probably can hold his own with any of them. As a safety man, signal caller, and ball runner he fits in without hesitation.

English, East Liverpool, and Calhoun, Wellsville, are the halves. English can pass and run. Of the latter fact thousands of fans who saw him speed to two touchdowns in Wellsville can testify. He advanced the ball more than 150 yards in that one game and his defensive work left little to be desired.

Calhoun, fairly heavy, but fast and tricky, can be rated a triple threat. He can pass, punt and run the ball. He has the speed to circle the wings and the strength and driving power to crash the line. Calhoun stood out at Wellsville this year despite the fact that his interference was not of the best.

Kirkham is fullback and few can deny him the position. He, too, is a three-threat man, qualifying as a punter, passer and ball carrier. In addition, he called the signals for the Blue on a number of occasions this year, proving his generalship. He proved an ideal team leader, in the opinion of Coach Hurst, the fans and the team. He outshines all county rivals for this position.

Six positions on the first team are awarded East Liverpool players. Again opinion arises to point out that any team that is rated a winner must necessarily have the ability to win.

State Champs Facing Tough Cage Schedule

Dover Quint on Blue and White Card Again This Year.

NEW PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 2.—Dover high school's basketball team, state champions last year, this year is facing one of the toughest and longest schedules of games ever compiled for a Crimson aggregation, with but only one member of last year's varsity men back in uniform. The one regular back is Bill Beitner, a guard. Raymond Lowe, a forward on last year's team, will be eligible the last semester.

The schedule which was handed out by Dover school authorities today includes some of the leading teams of the state. Twenty-five games are listed. The season will be opened at Akron South high school on December 16th. The final game will be played at Wooster on February 25th.

The customary number of set-ups usually included in a Dover high athletic schedule is noticeably absent. Sixteen of the games will be played away from home and but eight are booked for the Legion hall in Dover. Canton McKinley will play in the first home game in Dover on December 23rd.

East Liverpool high, coached by Joe Hurst, this city, is included in the Doverites' list of games.

Only a few candidates answered Coach Herman's first call for practice last evening. Uniforms were passed out and actual practice will start tonight.

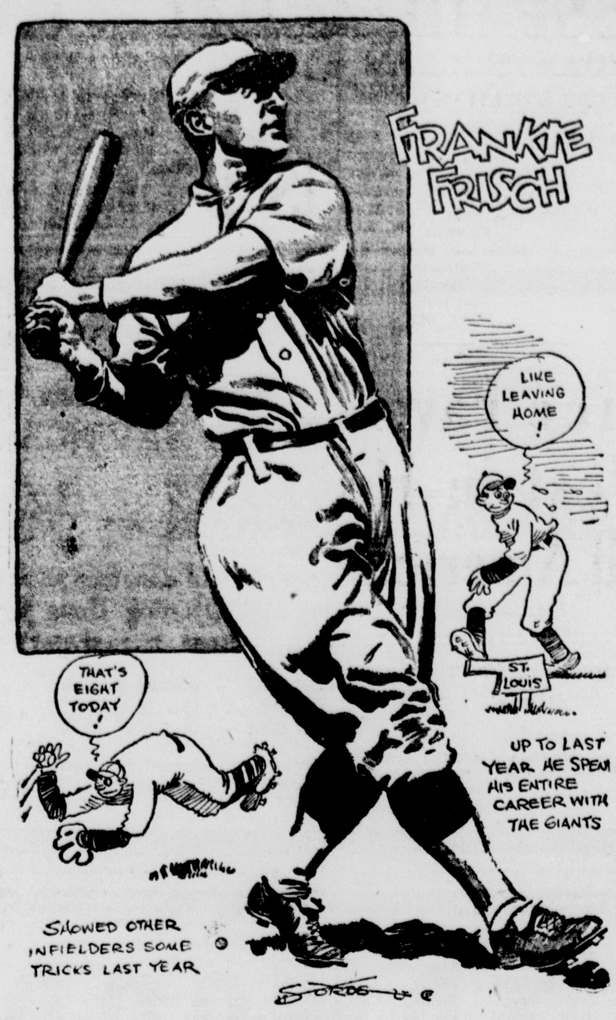
The following is the schedule:

December 16th—Akron South at Akron.
December 17th—Columbus North at Columbus.
December 23rd—Canton McKinley at Dover.
December 28th—Alliance at Alliance.
December 30th—Cambridge at Cambridge.
December 31st—Columbus Central at Columbus.
January 6th—Mansfield at Mansfield.
January 7th—Akron St. Vincents at Akron.
January 12th—New Philadelphia at New Philadelphia.
January 13th—Youngstown Chaney at Youngstown.
January 14th—Salem at Salem.
January 20th—Sharon, Pa., at Sharon.
January 21st—Wooster at Dover.
January 27th—Uhrichsville at Dover.
January 28th—Marietta at Dover.
February 3rd—Millersburg at Millersburg.
February 4th—Sharon at Dover.
February 10th—Uhrichsville at Uhrichsville.
February 11th—John Marshall at Cleveland.
February 17th—Steubenville at Steubenville.
February 18th—East Liverpool at Dover.
February 21st—Columbus East at Dover.
February 24th—New Phila., at Dover.
February 25th—Wooster at Wooster.

At the completion of the season's work the Crimson and Grey quintet will be entered in the regional tournament at New Concord on March 3rd and 4th.

Bread served at a banquet in Brussels recently was made from wheat believed to be 3,000 years old and which was found in the Pyramids, and the butter used was churned during the reign of Queen Elizabeth.

HELPED BY CHANGE OF SCENERY



By Jack Sords.

Frank Frisch, in his first season away from New York, completed one of the best seasons of his career this fall. Not only in his hitting and base running did he show class, but his fielding was of such a high caliber as to enable him to show his heels to all the rest in that department. It was one of the best exhibitions of fielding ever demonstrated by an individual.

On six occasions the "flash" accepted 11 chances, 10 chances 13 times, nine chances nine times and eight chances 17 times. That's a lot of fielding for nine-inning games.

Last season saw Frisch away from the Giants for the first time. Until then he was a New Yorker through and through. Born in the big city in 1898 he began his big league career there with the Giants in 1919, after starring on the diamond at Fordham university. He went to the Cardinals last year with Jimmy Ring in the trade that brought Rogers Hornsby to the Giants.

FAITH.

A real estate man known to the writer has done two million dollars' worth of business in a comparatively short time. Much of that time conditions have not been good for the real estate busines. At least that is what other real estate men said. This man says that enthusiasm, belief in the thing you are doing, faith in your own business and in the thing you have to sell is the answer. He has done more than other men because he has believed more than other men. He has had more faith than other men.

Scraps With Coach

Little Mae Bowmer, famous swimming champion and holder of the world record for the 50-yard free-style event jointly with Eleanor Garratti, is charged with what is technically known as "club desertion" by her coach, Frank Holborow, who claims that she failed to properly file notice of leaving the Royal Palms (Cal.) swimming team when she sailed for Honolulu to make her home there. Miss Bowmer, above, denies any infraction of the regulations and intimates she will fight the charges.

Fight Results

AT CHICAGO — Roleaux Saguero, Cuban light heavyweight, and Chuck Burns, of San Antonio, Texas, fought a ten-round draw.

Lope Tenerio, Filipino lightweight, outpointed Frankie Schaeffer, of Chicago, 10 rounds.

Billy Showers, St. Paul welterweight, knocked out Tom Burke of Ireland, 5 rounds.

AT NEW YORK—Tony Canzoneri, Brooklyn featherweight contender, won decision over Ignacio Fernandez, of the Philippines, 10 rounds.

Kid Francis, Italian bantam champ, outpointed Archie Bell, 8 rounds.

Bud Dempsey, N. Y., won from Carl Duane, New York, on a foul in third round.

Sammy Dorfman, New York featherweight, won from Lew Hurley, New York, 8 rounds.

Andy Martin, Boston featherweight, won decision over Lew Perfetti, New York, 8 rounds.

Patsy Ruffalo drew with Freddie Anderson, 10 rounds.

AT McKEESPORT, Pa.—Willie Davis, Charleroi, Pa., flyweight, won decision over Louis Carpentero, Dayton, O., 10 rounds.

AT PHILADELPHIA—Eddie Reid, New York lightweight, disqualified in second round of bout with Richie Martell, Philadelphia, for hitting after the bell.

ADVERTISING.

More than one billion, two hundred million dollars were spent in advertising in 1923 in the United States. Between fifty and sixty millions are spent every year by the leading motor car companies. Whatever hastens the conversion of natural resources into forms for human use works a social benefit. Whatever retards such conversion works a social injury. Advertising surely hastens the production and consumption of raw materials. Advertising is one of the great social benefits of mankind.

LIVING FOREVER.

If our whole conception of life is encircled by the few years that we are to live upon the earth, we have a small appreciation of life. If we are not building for a future beyond our own days we are not building much. Men crave immortality. Men cannot live forever on this earth but they can greatly extend the value of their lives, here and now, by building beyond their own little day. They can achieve immortality by their works. And how are men best and longest remembered? Not by their accumulation of wealth. They are longest and

WELLSVILLE'S WEST END DRAINAGE SYSTEM IMPROVED

20TH STREET AND TWO RUN JOBS ARE PLAN

Prepared to Withstand Storms of Winter and Spring.

SPEED ALL WORK

Mayor W. L. Fogo Says Task is Near Completion.

With the new $5,000 Twentieth street sewer job virtually completed in record time, Bunting's Run and McQueen's Run sewer thoroughly cleaned out, the Wellsville service department has placed the municipality's west end drainage system in better condition than it has ever been to withstand the rains and storms of winter and spring.

With the exception of the construction of a drop on the upper side of Clark avenue, the Twentieth street job is complete, according to announcement today by Mayor W. L. Fogo.

City service department, with the aid of laborers, accomplished the construction of the sewer, which runs between 600 and 700 feet, in approximately a month's time. The job also afforded work for a number of otherwise unemployed men.

Corrugated iron pipe under the street car tracks and vitrified pipe for the remainder of the distance from Clark avenue to a point where it empties into McQueen's Run sewer, were used.

Milliron's "clamshell' was used in excavating on the upper end of Bunting's Run. A trench approximately 20 feet across was cut out to expedite the flow of water in the Twenty-second street run.

The service department also paid another visit to McQueen's Run sewer, giving it a thorough cleaning out and placing it in condition for the winter and spring. The breakers also were placed in good condition.

An average of more than $35.000,000 worth of automobiles are being exported from this country each month.

CLASS COURT TEAMS PLANNED

Interclass Athletic Program Being Arranged.

Interclass basketball activities will occupy no small part of the local high school's recreational program during the next few months.

According to announcement today by Superintendent S. E. Daw, plans and schedules are already mapped out for the organization of class cage squads, of both boys and girls.

The teams will play through until March when they will compete in tournaments.

PIANO STUDENTS TO PRESENT PLAY

Miss Jean Fogo, pianist, today announced arrangements for a playlet which will be presented by a number of her pupils who are taking special work, on Thursday evening, Dec. 20, in the First Methodist Episcopal church.

The playlet will be entitled "Jewel's Vision of Christmas."

STUDENTS SEE FILM FEATURES

Educational "movies" comprised the program given during high school assembly hour this morning.

"Little Orphan Annie," featuring Colleen Moore, was the headline event. Movies of the silver salmon in Alaskan rivers also were shown.

WILL SELECT NEW OFFICERS

Covenant Class to Meet at Second Presbyterian Church.

The Covenant Sunday school class of the Second Presbyterian church will meet this evening at 7:30 o'clock in the church basement.

During the business session officers for the coming year will be elected.

Mrs. Clifford Baughman will lead the Bible study. Christmas presents, having a value similar to those given last year, will be exchanged during the social hour.

Hostesses for the evening are Mrs Alonzo Gloss, Mrs. Bessie Faris and Mrs. Harry Hamilton. Mrs. Harold Johnson will have charge of the entertainment.

MEN'S CLASS ISBANQUETED

Twenty One Attend M. E. Church Group Dinner.

Young Men's Sunday school class of the First Methodist Episcopal church held their annual banquet last evening in the church dining room.

Members of the Mizpah Sunday school class of the church served the dinner, places being laid for 21.

Paul Kessell, president of the class, acted as toastmaster. The program included piano selections by George Calhoun, vocal solos by Earl Eschbacher and a talk by Rev. Harold F. Post, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, on the subject, "A Young Man's Religion, What Should It Be?"

The class is taught by Superintendent of Schools S. E. Daw. True Heakin is secretary-treasurer.

AUTO PLATES ON SALE HERE

C. W. Arnold Advises Motorists to "Shop Early."

Automobile license plates which will qualify motorists to operate in 1928, were placed on sale yesterday at the office of C. W. Arnold, Main street, deputy automobile commissioner.

The first pair of pleasure car plates was issued to C. J. Berg, of Tenth and Center streets.

O. H. Russell, lower Main street merchant, procured the first truck tags.

"Early shopping" is advised today by Commissioner Arnold who says that the demand for the new plates has been very slow since they were first placed on sale.

Pointing out that the closing days of the month are certain to find a jam of last minute motorists seeking tags, Arnold suggests that plates be purchased now.

Purchasers of 1928 tags will be permitted to put them on their cars commencing Dec. 21.

According to information from the office of Chalmers R. Wilson, at Columbus, state commissioner of motor vehicles, there will be no extension on 1927 tags which means that after midnight December 31, 1927, all automobiles must carry new tags.

HIGH GRIDDERS TO BE FETED

Annual Football Dinner to be Given by Mothers.

Mothers of the members of Wellsville high school football team are planning the annual post-season banquet.

According to present arrangements, the dinner will be held sometime next week.

The banquet, started here a number of years ago by mothers of players, has been an annual event since its beginning.

It is customary to select the next season's captain at these banquets.

SUNDAY PROGRAM AT YELLOW CREEK

Regular services will be held Sunday in the Yellow Creek Presbyterian church, with preaching at 11 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. Rev. K. J. Stewart, pastor, will discuss the subject, "The Second Commandment," in the morning, and the theme, "People by the Way," in the evening.

Sunday school will convene at 10 a. m. and young people will meet at 7 p. m. The topic will be "What Is Prayer." Consecration service will be led by Mrs. Marshall.

An entertainment will be given by local talent in connection with the Salineville quartet on Friday, Dec. 16, in the grange hall. The public is invited.

Kumejiro Taki, a member of the house of peers of Japan, has made a formal offer of $50,000 for the first Japanese aviators to cross the Pacific ocean by air, and already a number of fliers have started to train for the event.

cases in its home city Peoria, Ill., during the past five years, now given to the world.

MOST PITIFUL CASE
Mr. John S. Flanagan, 703 S. Adams St., Peoria, Ill., Says:—In 1922 I had one of the worst cases of inflamatory rheumatism anyone could have, covering a period of five years, suffering terribly and constantly. Could not get around, except on crutches, unable to dress or undress myself. Tried everything known to medical science, including two trips to Hot Springs, without relief. Up to this time, had paid out over $10 000, then like a miracle from Heaven, QICKO WONDER LIQUID, was brought to me. I'm not exaggerating in stating that this remedy took me off my crutches in four weeks. Since it cured me, I personally know it has cured over 500 cases in Peoria, many like mine, chronic and given up.

EAST LIVERPOOL REVIEW-TRIBUNE

FINAL EDITION

VOL. XLVIII. NO. 22. EAST LIVERPOOL, OHIO, FRIDAY, DECEMBER 2, 1927. 2c A COPY.

COLLECT $282 IN RED CROSS JUNIOR CALL

Report is Announced By Chairman H. D. Rist.

SCHOOL CANVASS

With Exception of Magazine Cost, Fund is Used Here.

Collections in the Junior Red Cross roll call in the schools of the East Liverpool district in connection with the membership campaign last month, amounted to $282.57, it was announced today by H. D. Rist, Junior roll call chairman.

With the exception of 50 cents per room which is deducted for the Junior Red Cross magazine subscription this money is retained for use in East Liverpool. The campaign in 1926 netted about $315.

The largest collection was in the McKinley school where $38.81 was reported. Pupils attending the Sixth street school gave $32.74, while the high school added $32.38.

Other buildings reported the following amounts: Continuation school, $5.02; Central $28.12; Dixonville, $2.05; Gardendale, $1; Garfield, $15.65; Glenmoor, $4.45; Grant street, $11.17; Horace Mann $19.10; Klondyke, $5.38; Lincoln $19.14; Maplewood, $13.60; Neville, $11.23; Pleasant Heights, $8.94; Third street, $15.40; Trentvale, $2.05; Walkers, $3.37; Washington, $8.54; West End, $4.

Near-Plane for Learners.

German air pilots are being trained on a special skeleton airplane. The parts of the plane can be seen in operation, and the student can observe just how each operates before he begins to fly. He sits with the demonstrator in the cockpit and tests for himself the effects of levers and gears on the machine's parts.

FRANKLIN FURNITURE CO. FRANKLIN A-GRADE COLUMBIANA, OHIO

Look for the Franklin Trade Mark on each piece. This assures you of FINEST QUALITY CONSTRUCTION. Note the following superior points;

The Frames

All frames are made of thorough seasoned kiln-dried maple and other hardwoods, free of knots. Joints are double dowelled and the main joints are glue blocked—they are sturdy.

The Cushions

There are 49 springs in the average cushion, all incased in separate burlap sacks, padded with 4X Spanish moss and covered with a thick layer of white long staple felted cotton.

Under Construction

Full web construction underneath ,also backs and sides, this insures you of having a suite that will always maintain its shape—will not break down even if you jump in the middle of the seat.

The Springs

The best oil tempered Premier steel wir springs are used, tied eight times so they can't slip—from 27 to 36 of them are in the davenport seat—according to the size—which means real comfort.

The Coverings

The Franklin buyers are always in the market buying coverings—over a thousand yards are used daily in production ,thus you are assured of obtaining the latest in patterns and color combinations.

Pastor's Convention In Columbus, Jan. 23

Ohio Council Urges Churches to Pay Expenses of Ministers To Session.

Laymen in East Liverpool churches should make arrangements to pay the expenses of their pastors to the annual state pastors' convention in Columbus January 23-26; urged Rev. H. E. Beckler, field secretary of the Ohio Council of Churches, here today in the interest of the convention.

Last January 962 clergymen of 20 denominations registered for the convention, which is coming to be regarded as the year's outstanding event in Protestant church activities in Ohio, according to Mr. Beckler.

"It is an investment in leadership for a church to send its pastor to the convention," said Mr. Beckler. "The church will profit from the pastor's contact with great national religious leaders and with fellow-clergymen of all denominations from all parts of Ohio.

"It is as reasonable for the church to bear the cost of the trip as for a club or lodge or business house to pay its representative's way to a state or national convention."

Among the "national leaders" to whom Mr. Beckler referred, the program lists these speakers:

Dr. S. Parkes Cadman, New York, president of the Federal Council of Churches; Dr. John M. Moore, New York, general secretary of the Federal Council; Dr. Robert E. Speer, New York, moderator of the Presbyterian general assembly; Dr. Daniel Poling, international Christian Endeavor president; Bishop Theodore S. Henderson, Cincinnati; Dr. George E. Haynes, race relations secretary of the Federal Council; Dean Walter S. Athearn, Boston university; Dr. William P. Merrill, New York, president of the World Alliance for International Friendship Through the Churches; Dr. Orvis F. Jordan, Park Ridge, Ill., executive secretary of the Community Church Workers of the United States; Dr. Merton S. Rice, Detroit; Dr. Bernard C. Clausen, Syracuse, N. Y., and Dr. Paul S. Leinbach, Philadelphia.

Several of these speakers will act as advisers and counsellors to the convention's sectional meetings which will consider seven major topics of discussion—Evangelism, International Goodwill, Racial Goodwill, Moral Welfare in the Home, The Youth Community and Religious Education.

Homeworth

Mrs. Sarah Whiteleather Sanor, 73, died Saturday at the home of her daughter, Mrs. John E. Hill at Rochester. She was the daughter of the late Jesse and Hannah Kugler Whiteleather and was born on a farm near New Chambersburg and lived there until about 12 years ago when she moved to East Rochester. She was a member of the Methodist Episcopal church at East Rochester. Funeral services were held (Monday) at 1:30 at the home and at 2:00 at the M. E. church at East Rochester, Rev. Gardner, officiating. Interment in the Moultrie cemetery.

The Review-Tribune Offers to Readers Booklet on Stains

Clean your own clothes. Why pay a cleaner to remove spots from your clothing when you can easily do it yourself at home?

The one important factor in this work is the use of the proper method for the particular stain you wish to eradicate.

This knowledge can be obtained by consulting an authoritative booklet issued by the Department of Agriculture which tells how to remove 88 different kinds of stains from clothing.

Our Washington Information Bureau will secure a copy of this publication for any one who sends four cents in stamps to cover return postage and handling charge. Be sure to write your name and address clearly on the lines of the coupon.

JOHN GILBERT IN SCREEN HIT

Scores in "Monte Cristo," At The Ceramic.

John Gilbert, who is featured in modern love dramas, might well be proud of his work in the William Fox production of Alexander Dumas' powerful novel, "Monte Cristo," which has been revived for East Liverpool at the Ceramic because of popular demand.

That Gilbert has excelled his character creations in the Dumas drama since he left the Fox studio is difficult to conceive. For as Edmond Dantes, the virile first made of the Clipper Pharaon, boyishly happy in his love for Mercedes, the lovely village maid, and then as the mysterious count of Monte Cristo, the grim and crafty avenger, the star accomplishes his delineations with thorough artistry.

"Monte Cristo's return engagement attracted large audiences over the week-end, which apparently indicates that its absorbing dramatic appeal has not suffered by comparison with the usual run of movie products. Of special interest is the presence of Renee Adoree in the cast supporting Gilbert. These stars later made a hit in the war-time picture, "The Big Parade."

As transferred to the screen by Emmett J. Flynn, one of the best directors in the business, "Monte Cristo" is as impressive, if not more so because of its realistic living form, as the novel of the French master fictionist. The transition was a tribute not only to the director but to Dumas for his wonderful ability to inject into a novel written one hundred years so many stirring and varied dramatic situations which probably strike a deeper responsive chord in the people of today because of the scarcity of real drama in the works of modern fiction.

The Way of the World

BY GROVE PATTERSON

TRAVEL.

Twelve Detroit men arranged to fly to New York for dinner. The schedule calls for a five-hour trip. The airplane makes a New York suburb out of Detroit. That's travel up-to-the-minute.

WORLD TOURIST.

Bishop Joseph C. Hartzell, 85 years old, tells friends he has traveled a million and a half miles in the service of his religion without accident. Scuffing through the African desert, splashing across flooded rivers, riding on oxen-back and sometimes in an airplane. Million and half miles by every known means without mishap. Travel is safe. News stories of train wrecks, plane crashes make good reading because they are unusual. Think of Bishop Hartzell. He averages 35,000 miles a year without accident.

OTHER TRAVELERS.

George A. Bellamy, president of the world's largest settlement house, an a student of the American Indian, has ideas on traveling worth considering.

"Scientists agree that a 14-year old girl ought to be able to carry a 25-pound pack 25 miles a day and not be over-fatigued," he said.

In Arizona Bellamy found a 92-year-old Indian who rode horse-back 50 miles a day and never noticed any strain, a 46-year-old Navajo who can do 26 miles on the run in two hours and 49 minutes and finish with heart and respiration normal, and a red-skinned messenger of 60, who daily runs from Fort Wingate to Zuni and return, for 92 miles.

INDIAN RUNNERS.

Bellamy says he saw six Indians run a ten-mile race and not one of them was under 55 years of age. He adds that the real Navajo test of a 14-year-old boy is his ability to run three days and three nights without rest.

Nobody can persuade you that it is necessary for you to be a marathon runner to be happy or to prosper.

More backyards and front porches, however, where the whole family can enjoy the fresh air will strengthen the nation.

GOOD-SYE CITIES.

It is possible that improved traveling devices, better airplanes and automobiles, will end the growth of cities. Easy means of getting over the ground will make it possible for anyone who wants to live on an acre-farm a long distance from the city to travel comfortably to office or factory.

Army Stamp Abolished.

Soldiers of the British army have been ordered to discontinue the stamping of their feet, and no more will be heard "Let's hear you stamp those feet" from drill instructors on military parade grounds. The order states that the practice, which has been growing throughout the army, jars the nerves of the soldiers too severely.

Radio University Planned.

England is planning a radio university. Government officials are outlining courses which may be given through the air. At the end of the course examination papers will be sent to those who entered, and replies will be graded according to accuracy. The entry fee will be only 50 cents, the lecturers being paid out of the fund thus raised.

Practical Gifts Always Welcome At Christmastime

When your Christmas list stretches itself out to alarming proportions, why not try this plan. It has saved several of our customers not only dollars, but hours of anxious thought.

With possibly only a few exceptions, choose gifts of extreme practicability but of the highest possible quality. Bathtowels, for example, kitchen sets, sheets and pillow slips, or a hundred other like articles, make charming gifts and are always welcome. One never has too many of these things, and they can be as attractively boxed as you wish.

Then, too, they are the ideal gift when your friend seems to have almost everything that her heart desires. They are in excellent taste, and are sure of a welcome in any home.

Our store is filled with practical, yet lovely gifts. Warm blankets, lustrous damask dinner cloths, cheery bed spreads—these are only suggestions and a stroll thru our store nowadays suggests many other possibilities.

Let's give practical gifts this year; something useful as well as handsome. It's the sensible way to celebrate Christmas.

River Captain, Critically Ill, Reweds First Wife After 20 Years.

CAMDEN, N. J., Dec. 2.—A bridegroom too weak to be photographed, a bride too worried about her bridegroom's health to plan her nuptial costume, a minister 89 years old, and a doctor who had attended and watched over the pair for many years, formed a strange bridal party here.

The bridegroom was Captain John R. Keen, 69, one-time ferryboat pilot on the boats that ply their way steadily and slowly back and forth between Camden and Philadelphia. On his wedding day he was near death, with pneumonia, but today he looks a little stronger as his loving wife carefully arranges his pillow.

Twenty years ago Captain Keen's wife, Emma, then 34, divorced him on grounds of incompatibility. They agreed to remain good friends. He continued his piloting, and she, a few years later, remarried. This time, her spouse was Harry Halpert. Three years after her second marriage Mrs. Halpert was left a widow.

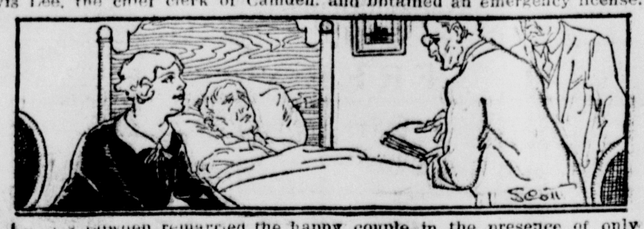
The other day Mrs. Halpert heard that Captain Keen was very ill. He had retired from piloting. She went to see him. The old affection was rekindled. Emma Halpert asked Captain Keen to go to her spacious three-story house, where she would care for him.

He accepted the offer. She advised calling a doctor, for Captain Keen looked very ill. When Dr. J. P. Brennan, their old friends, arrived, he said Captain Keen was ill with pneumonia, and that he considered the patient's condition serious, because of his age.

Captain Keen understood. He looked up from his bed and said: "Before it is too late, I want to rewed Emma. I want to be able to call her my wife again. I can die happy then."

Dr. Brennan thought his patient strong enough. Mrs. Halpert rushed to Lewis Lee, the chief clerk of Camden, and obtained an emergency license.



Rev. [illegible] Bowden remarried the happy couple in the presence of only two witnesses.

Captain Keen rose from his pillows, embraced his refound Emma and said: "I have you again, and now there is something to live for."

He now is able to sit up on a couch in his wife's living room and look out of the window, from which he can watch the river traffic he once knew so well.

Haskin's Letter

Drafting Capital and Labor.

The feature of the bill that will arouse the greatest opposition, it is believed, is the provision for the drafting of capital and labor as well as man power in time of war. The financial interests and organized workers are recognized as the most powerful forces in the country and when they make common cause they usually get what they want. Should they decide that they do not choose to go into the next war on the same basis with those who are inducted into the nation's military service they may be able to defeat the proposed legislation.

The author of th ebiyy says, however, that he hopes to avert class opposition to it because it is universal in its application. It does not single out any element of the nation's populace or interests to be favored or discriminated against, and it does not contemplate a situation in which the country going to war would have to deal with or decide what to do about pacifists. It undertakes to provide that when the war emergency arises all Americans will be on the same footing.

The Government would take over all the banks and all industrial and commercial establishments, including farms, the moment war is declared. Every citizen will be required to give his services to the Government for the duration of the war. Those who are of fighting age and physical equipment will go into the Army or Navy or Marines. Those who are bankers will stay on their jobs, manufacturers will continue to manufacture, farmers will farm, merchants will distribute the products others produce, essential workers in all lines will carry on, capitalists will handle their interests for the common good, and everybody will draw the pay and rations of the fighting man.

Could this be effected, it is claimed that the country would emerge from the war without a war debt. It could fight to the limit of its resources in men and munitions, but it would be unable to borrow money as it would be to borrow men.

"I realize," says the proponent of this weird legislative proposal, "that Congress will not even give me the slightest consideration this year or next, or for some years to come, but in time wars, if we continue to have them, will be fought upon some such basis as I have outlined."

DR. ADLER SAYS RUTH SNYDER COULD BE SAVED

What Will Society Gain If Slayer of Husband Is Executed? Asks Head of Ethical Culture League.

By Bonita Witt.

NEW YORK, Dec. 2.—What will society gain if Ruth Snyder is executed?

Dr. Felix Adler of New York, head of the Ethical Culture league and an ardent opponent of capital punishment, asks that question.

In his opinion, Ruth Snyder is a woman who becomes possessed of one idea and all her thoughts were directed toward its realization, without thought of consequence.

Compared With Napoleon.

"Like Napoleon, who sacrificed thousands to gain his end, believing the means he used to reach his objective of no importance, Ruth Snyder was obsessed with the single idea of getting rid of her husband," Dr. Adler says. "She took no account of anything else—everything was subordinated to the one fixed idea.

"Were she to be educated by capable teachers, Mrs. Snyder perhaps would become a useful member of society."

A jury first, and now the New York court of appeals, have decreed Ruth Snyder and Henry Judd Gray, her lover, must die for the murder of Mrs. Snyder's husband, Albert Snyder.

Only Governor Al Smith can save them by commuting their sentences.

Should capital punishment be abolished and the plan propounded by Dr. Adler adopted, criminals would be segregated into various classes—the imbeciles and other defectives, first offenders and adult prisoners would be separated. Then they would be subjected to discipline.

Urges Proper Discipline.

"Those who have not learned to control their impulses, especially the sudden passionate impulses that lead to the injury of others, must learn to control them. The right discipline has this effect," Dr. Adler declares.

"Again, those who commit depredations on the property of others, whose object is to gain the rewards of labor without labor, must be taught industry, the acquisition of property by the expenditure of effort, as is attempted by introducing instruction in trades and crafts in the best prison systems.

"Segregation from society is necessary. But the prison is not a hotel, it is not a hospital. The prisoner is not a patient who is to be healed of his sickness. He has committed an act or acts which prove that he needs to be re-educated.

"The prison is a school for the re-education of its wards. As a person who has had locomotor ataxia needs to be 're-educated' physically, so a prson who has perpetrated the acts called crime needs to be morally re-educated; that is, he needs to be taught to acquire the control of impulse and habits of applications, and the sense of social solidarity.

Favors Indeterminate Sentences.

"Every sentence should be indeterminate. Any prisoner should remain segregated until impartial experts certify that he has ben re-educated sufficiently to go back to society, certify that he is fit to graduate from the school of re-education."

Should all efforts fail to obtain clemency from Governor Smith, Ruth Snyder and Henry Judd Gray probably will meet just before they enter the death chamber on the day of the execution. She must pass his cell on the way to the chair. Execution is scheduled for week of Jan. 9.

This will be the first time they have seen each other since the day sentence was passed upon them.

Ruth and Henry no longer are lovers—the flame of their passion has died.

No hope for the lives of these two is held by Clarence Darrow, noted criminal lawyer, who saved Nathan Leopold and Richard Loeb from the gallows. In an interview he said:

"I think Ruth Snyder and Henry Judd Gary will be electrocuted. The circumstances surrounding the case, the publicity, and the public reaction at the time of the crime seem to assure that."

Only Governor Smith Can Save Woman, Who, Like Napoleon, Was Obsessed With Single Idea, Sociologist Believes.

PLAN MID-WEEK CHURCH MEET

Presbyterian Services at L. E. Stewart Home.

An effort to get those together who wish to have tuberculin tests of their herds made this fall is being made by the Columbiana County Tuberculosis Eradication league. A considerable number of herd owners in several townships have indicated the desire to have private tests made. By listing all of the herds in advance and grouping them so as to save time, some of the veterinarians have indicated that the work can be done at considerably less than cost to the herd owners. Plans were developed at a meeting of the league held at Lisbon Monday night for this work.

The herd owners must pay the veterinarian as no state or county funds are available since Columbiana county is an accredited area. Indemnity for reactors can be secured by signing the regular forms in advance for the test requesting the local veterinarian to be authorized to make the test. The following township representatives of the league are being asked to have charge of the work in their respective townships: Yellow creek, E. C. Wallace; Liverpool, W. S BcBane; St. Clair, T. D. Huston; Madison, Fred George; Washington, D. M. Smith; Elkrun, F. G. Bowman; Middleston, John Gaston; Unity, George Miller; Fairfield, Barnett Graham; Salem, J. C. Pottorf, Perry, S. N. Van Blaricom; Center, Sam Tritten; Hanover, W. S. Leeper; West, E. M. Davis; Knox, D. F. Hahn; Butler, T. C. Stark; Franklin, B. W. Grubbs; Wayne, C. S. Hull.

Persons wanting tests must report to their respective township representative by December 6. Each township man will then arrange for a meeting of the interested group to decide on the veterinarian wanted to do the work. Forms will be mailed to the applicants which must be immediately signed and returned to the township representative. Each herd owner must report his name, address, and number of cattle. If his herd is accredited, or if he wants his test to apply on accreditation, he must so state when reporting.

This test work is not compulsory, nor is it expected that nearly all will test. It is only an effort to help those who wish to do so, according to officers of the organization

NEW BRIDGE PIER WILL BE ERECTED

The centre pier for the new bridge that the county is to erect over Beaver creek on the Lisbon-East Liverpool road will be built during the winter, according to Herman C. Armstrong of Lisbon, to whom the contract was recently awarded.

Excavating for the centre pier has been commenced, but no concrete has been poured. High water in the stream on account of recent rains has caused all work on this contract to be stopped, but it will be resumed as soon as the water recedes to normal level.

READ THIS FIRST:

Bob Terry is released from prison after three years for a crime he did not commit. Peter Borden, his employer, thinking Bob was guilty, thought it his "duty" to send Bob to prison. Bob is released with hatred in his heart for Borden, and determines to make him suffer as he has suffered. Borden, sorry for his mistake, takes Bob into his home and offers to share his fortune with the man he sent to prison. Bob stays at the home of Borden and plots to "get" him. Bob meets Lois Borden, the beautiful daughter of Peter Borden. In the old days Bob has worshipped Lois from afar. Todd Shannon, Bob's prison pal, tells Bob to see John Carmody, the state's leading criminal lawyer and political boss.

(No go on with the story).

CHAPTER VII.

The man's reputation sat oddly upon his narrow shoulders. He was short and thin and his face was sharp beneath straggly hair which was never quite smoothly brushed. He appeared to be a clerk—and only in that capacity not out of place in the luxuriously furnished office on the door of which was the single word—Private.

Kathleen Shannon entered.

Yet this was John Carmody's office, and Carmody was the sharp-faced man at the desk who deliberated with punctilious care between two brands of perfumed cigarets. He was dressed with a plainness amounting to severity.

His private office occupied a corner of the fourteenth floor of the First National Bank building and between it and the hall were other officers: those of hireling lawyers who attended to routine work for him, and of law clerks and of many stenographers and typists and filing clerks. One did not gain an audience with John Carmody easily—and nver unless he desired it. There were many who tried to blast through—and always without success. There was rigid austerity for the timid and, if necessary, brute force for any who might harbor a deep personal animosity against the acrid man in the corner room.

John Carmody had enemies: powerful one, for to be an enemy of Carmody's one must be powerful. Ostensibly the man was merely an amazingly successful practitioner in the field of criminal law; actually he was an omniscient power in city, county and state politics with a finger firm on the pulse of the underworld and the proletariat.

Personally, he cared nothing for the political limelight. He never sought office and would have refused it had it been thrust upon him. But it pleased him—and was of inestimable personal benefit—to control those who did hold office. It is difficult to overestimate the value of knowing in advance just who will be on the jury in a vitally important case; it is of absorbing interest to a criminal lawyer to know exactly who the real criminals are—so that at times these men sought his services defensively, merely to close lips that might otherwise be used to assist the district attorney.

That was John Carmody; a rapier brain behind innocuous mask of bland friendliness; a master player moving his chessmen about the vast board of the state; a person who knew to the tiniest fractional part of an inch what he could and should do—and what had best be left undone. It pleased him to earn the worship of the criminal world. Its citizens furnished him with an adequate practice, but more particularly they held tiny bits of information which could be woven prettily into the warp and woof of information texture which enabled him to invest his personal fortune soundly and successfully.

Only the very honest dared express hatred of John Carmody. If they snubbed him, that was their business and immensely amusing to him. They did not have the power to blacklist him from the city's exclusive clubs, nor to debar him from the best social circles. Socially, he was considerable of a lion. Men responded in spite of themselves, to the sheer power of the man, and women—

Only one or two of Carmody's most intimate friends—and none of his enemies—knew of the chink in the man's armor. They regarded him as anhuman, bereft of any distinctly masculine emotion; yet beneath the retiring exterior were veins in which red blood coursed hotly—so hotly, indeed, that on more than one occasion it had come near to betraying the man. Where women were concerned he was not always bland and suave—and never negative. It was that which had sent Todd Shannon to jail. Carmody could have picked his own jury in that trial, and would have had it not been that he learned of Kathleen's intention to come into his employ. With Kathleen as his private secretary, he considered it more profitable to his own interests for Todd to be in prison. And so to prison Todd went—he and his niece filled with admiration for the heroic efforts of this great man on Todd's behalf—and Carmody was left with a free hand to do as best he could with the girl.

For years she had baffled him. He knew that she worshiped his power and his ability. Her admiration of his accomplishments showed in every look and gesture—yet in all the years of office intimacy he had never pierced the veil of personal reserve. He was further away from the girl now than he had been when Todd Shannon first went to prison, and he had been too adroit, too much the master strategist, to risk disaster by one grand false move. He had never succeeded in convincing her that he was a mortal man and not a demigod, and flesh-and-blood women do not fall in love with gods.

The door opened and a man entered. He was a tremendous figure, oddly picturesque. Officially he was John Carmody's collection agent. Actually, he was Carmody's Man Friday.

His more than six feet of height bulked against the panels of the walnut door, broad and forbidding. The head, magnificently formed, was almost hairless and it glistened in the glare of the morning sunlight which streamed in through the east window. The jaw was that of a professional pugilist, the walk that of an overmuscled wrestler. But when he spoke, his voice came with a sense of shock.

The man whispered!

There were some who yet thought that Willie Weaver's whispering was an affectation rather than an affliction. The thin, whistly syllables came queerly from the broad, firm mouth; they were startingly at variance with the herculean figure and the cold, level eyes. Whispering Willie Weaver! A man and a fighter. A physical bulwark between John Carmody's frailness and bodily danger. Not that Carmody was lacking in courage; but he did lack in strength, and that Willie Weaver supplied.

And now the whispering voice sighed through the room as the giant extended a newspaper.

"Seen this, John?"

Carmody glanced at the headlines and smiled. "Bob Terry?"

"Yes and no." The whispering seemed sinister. "I mean where he's gone."

"Ah! You don't mean—?"

"Yeh. First edition of the evening paper says he's going to be temporarily at the home of Peter Borden, the iron magnate. Iron magnate! Get that?"

"Foolish old man, isn't he?" queried Carmody gently.

"Damned fool; that's what. Busted the kid in the first place because he didn't have a lick of sense—and now takes him right spang into his house. Never did trust Borden—"

"To honest, Willie. I never trust a man who is too honest."

"Yeh." The whisper filled the room. "Now this kid is sore at him. I got that from Todd Shannon, and him and Todd having been buddies—"

"He'll come to me. That's understood. Be very nice to the lad, Willie."

"Yes, sir. And now—"

"That's all, Willie. Run along."

The huge figure hesitated—then turned and departed. Carmody smiled after him. Then, alone again, he rose and crossed to a mirror which hung on the wall. He smiled thinly at the meek, guileless countenance reflected. He smoothed his scarf and adjusted the modest sapphire pin. He fumbled with a handkerchief and rearranged it in the breast pocket of his coat so that the very tip showed. Then he returned to his desk and pressed the buzzer.

Kathleen Shannon entered, and Carmody's eyes flickered. He had never quite become used to the magic of her nearness—to the knowledge that a touch of his delicate finger on the buzzer would bring her to him.

He looked at her now — the one thing in the world which he wanted most and which was most unattainable; firm and straight and exquisitely feminine; hair and eyes midnight, cheeks and throat of white satin, lithe, eager, vibrant. A woman intensely physical, whereas he was merely an intellect.

She moved quietly and efficiently across the room and seated herself at his desk, enticingly close; insulting unconscious of his nearness. Accustomed as he was to the impersonality of her attitude, it never failed to stab him. Her voice was cool, self-possessed, casual.

"Ready, sir."

He shook himself together. "Not today, Kathleen. I want to talk with you."

"Yes, sir." She looked up and smiled, patiently pleased by his interest, totally unsuspicious of his deeper feelings.

How THE Other Half Behaves

TEETH, SLIGHTLY USED, RETURNED.

CLEVELAND, Ohio—A set of teeth slightly used was returned to the dentist in municipal court recently. The dentist sued a woman patient for $75 due on a $225 job. After the job was finished the woman said, "I don't like the work I'd rather give you back the teeth, if you allow me one-half of what I paid down." The dentist jumped at the offer. "The case is closed" ruled the judge as the dentist departed with the teeth in his pocket.

DESIGN SEEN IN LOSS OF TAIL.

NEWARK, N. J. — William Tronson has a job of directing taxis around the Newark Tube Station. "Minnie" was the official cat of the station. And it was no ordinary cat either. Whenever her tail pointed up in the morning it would be a fair day; if the tail took a downward direction rainy weather was in store. But recently she lost her tail. How that happens, nobody seems to know. A dog may have bitten it off, or it may have been struck by lightning or an automobile may have run over it; but it's gone. Anyway, Tronson must depend upon the weather man now for information.

Gets Liberty and $15.

BROOKLYN, N. Y.—A man accused of having broken into a house has been acquitted by a jury. He admitted to Judge W. Bernard Vause in a Brooklyn court that he served three terms in the last 27 years. "I could make a living at my trade of barber if I had $15 to buy tools, and I would not be picked up by police any more," the man told the court. "We ought to be able to fix that," said Judge Vause. He then took $15 from his pocket and sent the man on his way.

Couldn't Forget Anna Mae.

CLEVELAND, O.—A man known by the name of "Kid" appeared before Judge G. P. Bear because he loved two women. Back in July he wandered to Alabama and fell in love with Anna Mae. "I just naturally forgot little Mary whom I married in 1922," he told the judge. Judge Bear looked him over and deemed him worthy of probation, "but," he warned, "forget Anna Mae." Some time later the "Kid" again stood before the judge, saying he just couldn't forget his Anna Mae. To make it easier for him to stay away from Anna Mae, the judge sent him to the penitentiary.

Message to Garcia.

TOLEDO, O.—The desk sergeant at the Safety building called patrolmen Loebrke and Bender into his private office, closed the door and clearing his throat said: "Gentlemen, I have an important message for you to deliver." "That so?" answered the policemen. "Yes," said the sergeant, "this is a message to Garcia." "What, another one?" exclaimed the policeman. "It's extremely important," the sergeant continued and whispered something in their ears. After a while the policemen were back. "We delivered the document sarge." "Aw g'on! honest?" "Yap, possilutely, his full name is Ganzalo Garcia."

Punches Failing Cop.

ELIABETH, N. J.—Frank Dowdorowich was held up by two bandits and robbed. He called a policeman to find the bandits. Hours elapsed but the efforts of the policeman to locate the two bandits were vain. This did not suit Frank whose disposition suffered some through this incident. To find relief, he punched the policeman in the face and went on his way.

WASHINGTON STEWART'S LETTER

MORE CRUISERS, MORE PLANES? NAVAL AND AIR FORCES DIFFER

WASHINGTON, Dec. 1.—Can an aviator really bomb a big warship into scrap iron at one shot, practically sure fire?—as Colonel "Billy" Mitchell and other airmen claim.

It will only waste money and cost lives to build and man any more of them if they can be blown to Davy Jones as easily as that.

This is the very objection that will be raised, to block the cruiser-building contingent, when congress meets—not that our national defense should be neglected, but that planes are what we need—that surface navies are obsolete.

The navy folks' version is that no aviator ever sank a ship that wasn't hitched, ready for him, to an anchor, motionless, and unmanned to fight back—or ever can, except by pure accident.

Give 'em a moving ship to shoot from, and anti-aircraft guns, the surface scrappers say, and they'll do one of two things to any aviator alive—either knock him down, or keep him too far off or too high up to make a hit.

Dropping bombs on a fleet, they remind you, is different from dropping them on a city.

Ashore, the chap who misses his mark because he can't get close enough, wrecks something else, which may do about as well. At sea, he scores a bullseye or nothing.

The sea level warriors cite the lesson of the world conflict—navies within flying distance of one another from start to finish and not a vessel sunk by plane.

Aviation has developed since then, argue the airmen.

Answer—so has anti-aircraft defense.

It's a hard question to settle. The aviators can't sink real men on a real ship, to prove they can do it. The anti-aircraft gunners can't bag a real aviator. In peace tmes, it wouldn't do.

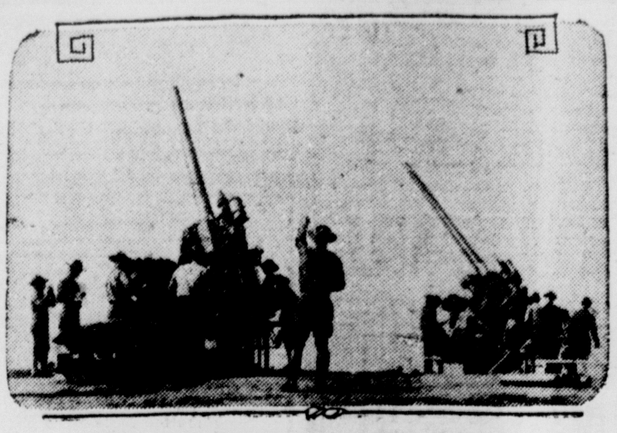
If sham combats prove anything the anti-aircraft gunners have the best of it.

The aviators don't, as a matter of fact, drop any dummy bombs on regular ships. They've blown up several hulks, but they were stationary and undefended and the airmen could dive as near as they liked and try as often as they chose.

The anti-aircraft gunners do plug the aviators' targets—sleeves, so called, trailed about a mile behind—full of holes. The aviators say they couldn't do it in real war—they'll fly factor, and dodge. Maybe so.

The anti-aircraft guns throw shrapnel, of course. The gunners claim 12 to 15 per cent of hits. It may not seem like a very large proportion, but with shots flying hundreds a minute, it's enough—at the receiving end of the line.

Besides, even a good miss is disconserting.



Anti-Aircraft Gun Prac tice at Aberdeen, Maryland.

One aviator near Washington recently had the stick knocked out of his hand by a burst estimated at 1,200 feet from his plane, though his machine was perforated, cut his target loose and came down.

Towing those targets isn't popular sport, at best.

The navy people don't minimize the value of aviation.

A fleet without planes, they admit, would be lost—blind, blundering and well-nigh helpless.

But planes without a fleet? Pooh, pooh!

That's the navy's philosophy.

The truth hurts, and so would you if you were stretched as much.—Defiance Crescent News.

Children of Pre-school Age Need Vitamins

The child of pre-school age needs special nourishment to build a strong body in preparation for the strenuous days of instruction that are ahead.

Many mothers have been gratified at seeing their frail, undernourished children become vigorous and strong through the consistent, regular use of emulsified cod-liver oil.

The millions of easily-digested, vitamin-rich, mist-like globules of emulsified cod-liver oil that are in every bottle of Scott's Emulsion, are the source of its great power to nourish the body and build health.

If you would assure your child the utmost vitamin-benefit from cod-liver oil — give it in its emulsified form, as in

PARTY IS HELD IN BONER HOME

Mrs. Joseph Gerace Honor Guest at Miscellaneous Shower.

Miss Agnes Bonar, Washington street, entertained a number of friends recently at a miscellaneous shower in honor of Mrs. Joseph Gerace, nee Rose Bonar. The latter was the recipient of many gifts.

Music and games were the chief diversions, after which a three-course luncheon was served by the hostess, assisted by Miss Bernice Wells, Delia Marshall, Sara Moon, Mrs. Frank Laufenberger and Mrs. Charles Larcombe.

During the evening the following program was given: Piano solo, "Doll Dance," Rose Wallace; reading, "The Rock," Helen Andrews; vocal solo, "Charmaine," Eva Haney; piano solo, "Larghetto," Mrs. William Kaufman; reading, "The Wife Hunting Deacon," Mrs. William Wolfe; ukelele selection, Ossie and Ava Willard; vocal solo, "Gypsy Love Song," Ruth Wolfe; piano solo, Fern Woods; vocal quartet selections, Mary Auerbach, Helen Schell, Betty Robertson and Peggy Weyzel; piano duet, "The Gazelle," Ethel Huffman and Ryda Swan; recitation, Dela Boner; piano solo, Anna Donnell; vocal duet, "Dawning," Ida Woods and Ruth Gilgallon; chorus, Bella Woolrich, Hannah Friel, Thelma Russell, Margaret Ellenbaugh, Lillian Woolrich and Mesdames Holiam, Holland, Trout, Erwin, Ecleston and Robertson.

Demonstration of the Charleston and other dances were given by Miss Gertrude Johnson of Wellsville and Jean Gilgallon.

COAL PRODUCTION STILL CLIMBING

West Virginia continues to set the pace in the matter of coal production. Reports of the federal reserve board for this district made public yesterday show that the output of the state mines greatly exceed those of other states, including Pennsylvania.

Mining activities of the state came to the front with a rush a number of months ago and since that time the production has steadily increased. Most of the mines in the commonwealth are now reporting operating at full capacity, especially in the southern part of the state.

BAZAAR PLANNED BY AID SOCIETY

Members of the Ladies' Aid and Missionary society have completed plans for an entertainment and bazaar to be held in the church on Wednesday afternoon and evening, Dec. 7.

Program of readings and vocal and instrumental numbers will be given in the evening.

Revival Closes Sunday.

Revival meetings in the Glendale mission, back of Newell, will close Sunday evening. The services are in charge of Rev. and Mrs. J. R. Edwards of Elmore, O. Large crowds have been attending during the week. They are being assisted by the superintendent, Rev. C. C. Brewer.

SEAL CAMPAIGN IS PROGRESSING

Hancock county is expected to maintain the record established in previous years relative to the sale of Christmas health seals.

The campaign, which was launched this week in all sections of the county, is reported as progressing favorably with every indication that the mark set up last year for receipts will be equalled if not exceeded.

Children of the various school districts are engaged in the drive along with others who are interested in the fight being waged against the spread of tuberculosis.

Emperor Wields Scythe.

Rice growing is one of the favorite pastimes of the Emperor of Japan. On the eve of his departure to the recent naval maneuvers he spent an hour gathering his rice crop from the paddy field in the Akasaka Palace. Assisted by some of his chamberlains the emperor busied himself with a scythe for an hour. He planned to harvest the late crop after his return from the maneuvers.

HANG OUT S. R. O. SIGN AT "MATRIMONY" CLASS SESSION

COLUMBIA, Dec. 2.—There is one course at the University of Missouri that doesn't "bore" the students.

It is the course in "matrimony."

The university catalog lists it as "114W, The Family."

Its teacher, Dr. Herman O. De Graff, describes it as a "sociological interpretation of the family as a group of interacting personalities."

But the students know the class as "Matrimony I," and flock to it as to a football game or a tea dance.

The course obviously is one of particular interest to co-eds who boast engagement rings and to young men who no longer possess their fraternity pins.

Much of the class period is devoted to a study of the reasons for the failure of many present-day marriages, and the requirements of a happy marriage.

The students listen with rapt attention.

Divorce statistics and the reasons for separations, as such, hold little interest for Dr. De Graff and his students. They seek the "real" cause behind the legal excuse.

Several textbooks are used, but most of the data studied is taken from case records made in divorce courts and in social agencies. These are analyzed and the factors of friction discussed.

Five kinds of love may be experienced by human beings according to Dr. De Graff.

These are natural, romantic, conjugal, maternal, and consanguineous love.

When a young man and a young woman marry, the gay and somewhat hypocritical gestures of romantic love must be changed into the deeper understanding of conjugal affection. If this fails to occur, the marriage goes on the rocks.

Cultural difference account for many marital difficulties and tragedies.

"Cinderellas frequently marry princes," says Dr. De Graff, "but they are rarely happy. These cultural differences are almost numberless. Husband and wife may differ in race, nationality, or religion. One may be rural-bred and the other a city product. One may be rich, the other poor.

"One may be well educated and the other entirely lacking in education. One may be from a large family and the other an only child. One may be young, the other old."

Dr. De Graff does not insist that persons of different cultures should not marry, but he says that their chances for happiness are less.

"Persons remain single for many reasons," Dr. De Graff tells his class. "Some are celibate because of a religious idea of personal sanctity. Some are possessed of a sex phobia or fear of sex.

"A great many are single as a matter of economic prudence. They prefer a single life of luxury and ease to a married one of work and toil. And there are those who voluntarily accept celibacy as a means of advancing their careers."

Trial marriages, birth control, the companionate alliance without children and the various doctrines advocated by Judge Ben Lindsey, Ellen Key, Margaret Sanger, the Russian government, and, more recently by E. Haldeman-Julius, are discussed but little approved by Dr. De Graff.

Though a bachelor, he believes in the institution of marriage and the monogamic family.

"At present the family is passing through a period of transition caused by the industrial revolution, the emancipation of women, growth of the cities, the World war and many other social factors," he points out.

"The institution, however, will survive, though it may be changed or modified to meet new conditions."

Dr. De Graff is an Iowan of Dutch descent. His interest in sociology dates back to his undergraduate days at the University of Iowa, where he heard Dr. Isaac Loos make an address. He then read an old copy of Lester F. Ward's "Pure Sociology," liked it, and began the study of the subject under Dr. Loos.

After a trip to France as corporal in Company H, 352nd Infantry, 88th Division, he returned to Iowa for a time and then entered the University of Chicago. He wrote a thesis there on the "Juvenile Court of Iowa," and received his Ph. D. in 1926. Last year he joined the faculty of the University of Missouri.

At present Dr. De Graff is collaborating with L. A. Halbert; executive secretary of the council of social agencies of Kansas City, on a textbook or urban sociology. The work will analyze and try to explain the effect of city life upon personality.

In Same House 82 Years.

That he has lived in the same house for 82 years was revealed by Dr. David Murray's "Memories of the Old College of Glasgow" that has just been published. This is believed to be the record for unbroken residence in Scotland. Doctor Murray says that as a boy he accompanied his father in 1845 to the house which he now occupies. The venerable lawyer was graduated from Glasgow University 70 years ago.

A THREE DAYS' COUGH IS YOUR DANGER SIGNAL

Persistent coughs and colds lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for persistent coughs and colds and other forms of throat troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the infected membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of persistent coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, bronchitis and other forms of respiratory diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. (adv.)

COUGH KEPT HER AWAKE ALL NIGHT

Doctor Ended Trouble by Using Novel Hospital Method; Gave Quick, Sure Relief!

Coughs, colds and bronchitis can be relieved quickly—often in a few hours—by a pleasant and inexpensive home method now endorsed by doctors because of its splendid record in hospital, private practice and home use among numbers of East Liverpool families.

The case of Mrs. Wm. Nelson, Jr., is typical of many here, according to leading druggists. She neglected her cold several days and developed a deep cough that threatened bronchitis. For two nights she heard the clock strike almost every hour—unable to sleep because of constant coughing. Then she phoned her family physician, who prescribed Ayer's Cherry Pectoral—a concentrated mixture of ingredients which hospitals have found to be the quickest, safest and surest to end colds, coughs and bronchitis.

With the first swallow she felt its comforting, healing warmth deep down into her chest. The coughing was eased immediately and in a day or so all traces of the cough were gone.

Note: Other cases reported daily to this paper by the physician who treated each particular case.

Doctors find that this hospital medicine does far more than stop coughing instantly. It is absorbed by the whole system. This quickly checks phlegm, heals irritation and drives out the cold from the nose passages, throat and chest.

Just a few pleasant spoonfuls of Cherry Pectoral now and you'll feel like a different person tomorrow. Hospital directions with each bottle. At all druggists, 60; twice as much in $1.00 hospital size.
